WE CAN—IF WE WILL!

How will January 1, 1924, find conditions in Birmingham? The answer to this depends upon what the people residing within its confines do during this year. The ECCENTRIC believes that there are many services which can be rendered to the people of Birmingham, and also believes that these there should be presented to the people.

We go on the theory that "a person does not need to be taught so much as to be merely reminded", and the things which we set forth are but reminders to our Village officials of things which they can or perhaps will do during the course of the year.

Undoubtedly there are many things which residents of Birmingham desire to have done. They would like to have, at least, many good suggestions to offer, and the ECCENTRIC would like to print these suggestions in future issues of the paper. So, folks, send them in—there is no charge for printing them.

Roger J. Babion, famous statistical expert, is responsible for the statement that the next year will show a remarkable growth in all the territory surrounding large cities. There is no guessing as to the future growth of Detroit; and, with the expansion of the Fourth city, many of its present residents will seek the life of suburban communities. If Birmingham rouses itself to this fact, then Birmingham must create within its confines the most desirable and convenient comforts of municipal life.

There is even now a scarcity of homes in Birmingham. Many people would move here if they had a place for them to take up a residence. We believe that every good home and reasonably priced apartment house erected here would immediately find available tenant. Homes can be built for outright sale, or for renting.

The building of a good hotel here would be a moral and financial asset to the community. The same would be true of a motion picture theater. There are plenty of people here and nearby to fill both.

The condition of our streets is a vital factor in assuring the future development of Birmingham. Good streets, some of them paved, others well kept, would be a nature into buyers of property. And it also would add to the comfort of those who already live here. Every bit of street work done should be made permanent—not make-shift, as has often been done in the past.

There is much land in Birmingham that is owned by the Village, and which was intended to be used as public parks. It is lamentably true that our past and present officials have not done much to create a real park system here. It would not cost of great deal of money to convert these natural works of nature into spots of beauty that could be used by our populace.

A special fund ought to be created for the cost of erecting a new Village Hall some time in the future. The present building is entirely overcrowded. It is inconvenient for the people who must carry on the Village work each day, and is too small to hold a crowd of citizens who are before the Commission from time to time. If a certain sum were set aside each year, in a few years there would be a tidy amount to apply on building a new Hall. This is something to think seriously about.

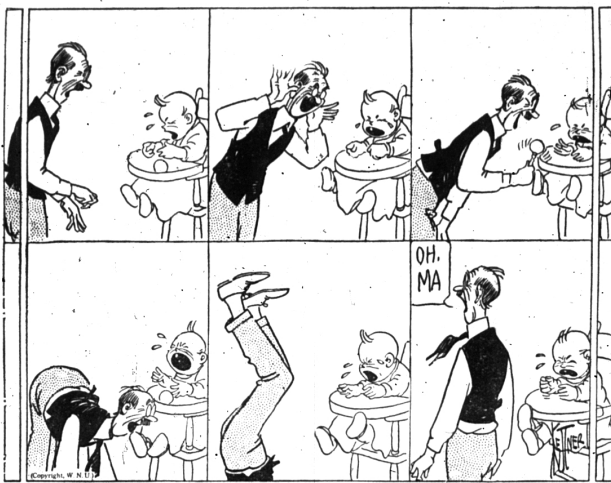

We should not forget our fire apparatus. We know that we have the best personnel obtainable anywhere in our fire department, but these men can not do much if they have not the proper equipment. We ought to have a pumper installed on the big truck. This is the cheapest kind of good insurance.

Of course, there are the waterworks. Everybody knows that we need more water here—in fact, nearly everybody in Michigan knows it, and this knowledge keeps a lot of good citizens from settling in our midst. The people look to the Village Commission to place before them a plan for water works extensions that will appeal to them—both from an engineering standpoint and the consideration of their pocketbooks.

Sewers are essential to the health of the community. We need more of them. A trunk sewer should be installed to prevent pollution of the River Rouge. The commission is working on this and the people will unquestionably vote the necessary bonds to install it.

We must not forget our schools. An addition to Baldwin high school is necessary this year, and it is hoped that the people of the district will stand behind their School Board when any bond issue comes up. The kind of education we give our children is responsible for the future of the country, even of the world—let's make the world better by doing our individual bit and have the best of educational facilities.

There ought to be more street lights installed in the Village this year. Undoubtedly the Commission will do all they can to make these installations. Most towns have the boulevard system of lighting in the business district. It makes the town look alive and aids the people in their shopping. How much would it cost to do this in Birmingham?

Last, but not least, there ought to be more co-operation between the citizens of the community on public issues. There is too much partisanship; too much "personal spite" is shown at election time to make the Village forge ahead. Let us forget these petty neighborhood quarrels in our endeavor to make Birmingham a better place to live in. We can do it if we will.

Perhaps we have overlooked a few items—if so, write your's down and send them in to the ECCENTRIC Office. Do it now!

ECCENTRICITIES

Canada reports that tourists, mostly American, spent $100,000,000 in the Dominion last year. Most of the money, it was said, was for entertainment and recreation. And it also went for bottles labeled "very cold," the contents of which may have been manufactured in Hamtramck.

A Pontiac man has complained to the city commission of an assessment for weed cutting on his two lots. He says the only burdock that ever grew on his property is still standing. The complaint will be investigated. If the burdock is still found standing, the commission will probably pass a resolution demanding that said burdock be cut to the rigors of our winter weather.

The debate last Friday was on the question: "Resolved, that had Mexico retained Texas, New Mexico and California, she would now be a formidable rival to the United States."

It is interesting to say that it aroused more interest than any discussion that we had in the old school-room for years. The two sides were nicely matched with the affirmative made up of Glenn Watkins, Belle Arnold, Tom Hattin and Alvin P. Hattin; the negative, Frank Campbell, Mayne Daniels, Craig Desmond and Florence Keyser.

The debate was pretty well balanced until the leader on the affirmative side made a closing speech. Both sides were well conducted and the Senior judges brought in a decision for the affirmative.

Last Friday evening Miss Lizzie Purdy was pleasantly surprised by about fifty friends from this vicinity, Detroit and Royal Oak. The Purdy home was thrown open to the young people and a jolly good time prevailed throughout the entire evening.

To Take Out Creak. If shoes squeak, saturate the soles with linseed or sweet oil or melted tallow. Let the shoes stand in one of these lubricants overnight. Many touch a small bit of tallow to the sole of the inner lining above it and say this will effectively stop the creak or squeak.

Old-Time Wedding Customs. In Tudor times women went bareheaded to be married, with haggles and dollies before them, and they entered the church by the great door only. In some places they carried wheat sheaves on their heads and corn was cast in their faces, with shouts of "plenty! plenty!"

"RADIO NUISANCE" IS EXPLAINED BY BOYS

Amateurs Not Responsible For Trouble Reported Here, Is Claim

By Russell McBride

In response to an article in last week's Eccentric, "The Radio Nuisance," we want to make clear a few facts concerning this so-called nuisance. We also want to know how they can be justly say that it is the licensed amateur that is causing this interference, merely because someone has told them so. Who, besides the licensed operators in Birmingham, can read the code well enough to accuse us of this interference? It is a well known fact to the experienced radio fan that commercial stations working on a wave between 300 and 400 meters cause, at least part of this interference and who, in Birmingham, is capable of coping well enough to tell the difference?

Let us endeavor to explain some of the reasons why you are so often troubled. The first reason is of poorly designed and inexpensive receiving apparatus.

The second, the lack of knowledge of how to correctly tune the modern regenerative set. Do you, when you buy a Ford, expect the service of a Cadillac? So it is with the radio receiving set; if you buy a cheap receiving set you may expect a lot of trouble from interference, etc. The amateur himself buys the best because experience has taught that he must in order to receive through the medium that thousands of transmitters create working upon practically the same wave. The novices in town evidently expect service for crystal radio.

Do you complainers realize what you owe the amateur for the development of the now perfected radio telephone and the receiving set by which you are heading it? The receiver set which you are now using was originated and patented by an amateur; the telephones which you listen to were perfected by the experiments of many amateurs. Most of the first telephones in operation were used by amateurs.

A word as to the present value of the amateur. The American Radio League, an organization of amateurs extending through the country, handles messages for the public free of charge; there were over 50,000 messages handled during the month of December. A message was started from Hartford, Conn., relayed to Honolulu, the answer obtained and relayed back to Hartford, a total of 10,000 miles in line, for four minutes and 18 seconds. The amateurs have succeeded in communicating with Europe on their small allotment of power. Not a month goes by but what the amateurs are called upon to do some form of storm relief work.

In conclusion we will agree to preserve quiet hours between seven and ten p.m. We hope if you have any further complaints they will come to us, as there has been considerable malicious interference by an unlicensed operator in Birmingham.

We sincerely wish to preserve among the novices and amateurs in Birmingham.

Herrick's Definition. Herrick was the true flower poet, however, and he has the most beautiful thoughts and fancies about life. He hated them to fade even to change.

He called them to fade even to change and his verses "to daisies—not to close so soon" are charming. He wrote of the primrose, the tulip, the violet, of "strawberry blossoms" and of "crows of huckleberry." His lines "To Daisies" are among the gems of English literature.—From "The Book of Literature" in John O'London's Weekly.

Birds and Trolley Wires. The blunder survey says that small birds are seldom killed by alighting on a trolley wire, even though it carries a heavy current of electricity. This is because there is not a complete circuit. If a larger bird were to alight on a wire, and one of its wings touched an other wire, it would be apt to cause death. Eggs have often been killed in this way.

Fifteen Holly boys are attending "Farmers' Week" at the Michigan Agricultural College, at East Lansing. The meeting closes tonight. K. D. Bailey, agricultural instructor in the Holly schools, accompanied the boys.

A Father-Son banquet for the entire community will be held in the gymnasium of the Lincoln high school at Ferndale on the evening of February 5. At that time several of the churches of the town will co-operate and the high school in holding their first affair of this kind.

The annual Oakland County Teachers Institute is being held at the high school auditorium in Pontiac today. There will also be an evening session.

Notices of more have been posted announcing a special meeting of the legal voters of School District No. 7, Troy township, to be held in Log Cabin school from 1 o'clock to 9 o'clock, Saturday, February 3, to determine if it is the wish of the people to divide the district, so that that portion lying within the limits of the village of Glaston might have a school district of its own.

The cleaning of well No. 4 at the city pumping plant in Royal Oak, which was disconnected recently by a contamination developed, has been completed and the state board of health, which has tested samples of the water, has reported to the city that the results are entirely satisfactory and that it is quite safe to again use this supply.

A Father and Son banquet will be held at the Methodist community hall in Farmington on Thursday, February 8, which will have an unique and interesting program of which known speakers and good music.

Value of Gypsum in Land. Edmund Ruffin, one of the early soil experts of the United States, said in 1852, "All other manures, whatever be the nature of their action, require to be applied in quantities far exceeding any bulk of crop expected from their use. But one bushel of gypsum spread over an acre of land fits for its action may add more than twenty times its own weight to a single crop of clover."

"Put" and "Call." A "put" is a contract which gives its possessor the right to deliver to the party signing the same a certain amount of stock at a named price during the time stated in the contract. A "call" is a contract which gives its possessor the right to demand from the party signing the same a certain amount of stock at a named price during the time stated in the contract.
