Skin Eruptions

Are Usually Due to Constipation

When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowels to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus replaces it.

Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or a laxative—so cannot gripe. Try it today.

Hande Tied.
The woman heard a long, an endless long sermon in a small country town where she was visiting, upon a Sunday.
When it seemed as though the minister were about to stop, he would beam upon the congregation, saying:
"Now you will forgive me if I say a few words about this."
And so it went on and on, while from time to time he assumed that he would be forgiven for his long and (in his own opinion) enlightening talk.
But what could anyone do? Just sit still and let the minister believe that his assumption was correct.—New York Sun.

HYPO-COD TONIC MADE HIM FEEL LIKE NEW MAN

Had Bad Stomach. Touch of Rheumatism, Nervous, Weak, Run Down.

PAINS GONE, SLEEPS, EATS, WORKS WITH PLEASURE

"It was dragging along feeling rocky all over. Didn't feel good at all, when a friend of mine told me how cheaply and easily a fellow can build and tone him up with this Hypo-Cod Tonic, so many people are recommending it," declared Mr. P. Broad (Dremann), Mid. Labing Ave., Detroit.
"I wasn't sleeping good nights. After meals I often felt sick. I was nervous and uncomfortable feeling in my stomach. Had pains here and there. Took my body, too, so I took my friend's advice and bought myself a bottle of Hypo-Cod. It did me a little good, so I invested in four more and, in a few days, I was the real goods. By the time I had taken four bottles I was feeling like a new man. Now I sleep, eat, work and feel great all the time. I know that Hypo-Cod has done for me and for other fellows of mine. Many thanks to Hypo-Cod," continued this enthusiastic Hypo-Cod booster.
Hypo-Cod has surprised thousands of men and women by the way it builds and strengthens them. It is a pure, wholesome tonic, free from all harmful actions on the body. A dose before meals a few days will show you what it can do. It costs only a trifle. Tastes fine and nobody could think of taking such a half-sick this kind of dangerous, wet, cold weather. Perfectly safe, reliable and good this winter. "Facts Chemical Co., Wheeling, W. Va.—Advertisement."

Mitchell, Ind.—"I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription during pregnancy and it did me lots of good. I was weak and nervous and my back hurt me all the time, my life was miserable, but after I took about one-half bottle of the 'Prescription,' the pain in my back was all gone and I grew stronger; I took it until my baby was about a month old, and I am strong and my baby is the picture of health. I am always ready to advise some suffering woman to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I think it is the best tonic on earth for women."—Mrs. Edna Dooley.

Flattering Spring Frocks; Chic Sweaters for Midseason

FROCKS for spring have made their cheerful entry and a typical example, pictured here, invites your scrutiny. There is nothing startling about them—no decided departures from the graceful lines of draped dresses that preceded them; if anything they are even more simple in their lines and even more becoming to the average figure. We are enjoying now, and will continue to have with us during the coming season, the most graceful and pleasing apparel that stylists have given us for some years.

But, in several particulars, the spring models show new developments home and announces that "all the girls are wearing" this or that, it amounts to an ultimatum to the family. Father forthwith proceeds to get out his check-book or mother takes inventory of the contents of her purse.

Fortunately, schoolgirls are showing an excellent vision of that they are making handsome jersey-knit slipovers and mannish sweaters the objects of their exploitation for midseason wear. It is a rigid test of conservatism which these knitted garments must pass in order to qualify. Strictly pure wool is the first requisite—and they must be correctly detailed in proper neckline, that are fascinating. First, and most noticeable, is the dapper of color. Frocks in dark or subtle colors are enlivened by high-colored embroideries of oriental inspiration, or by multi-colored silks, introduced in sleeves and trimmings. The paisley and cashmere influence is everywhere apparent in the displays, either in embroideries or in fabrics introduced as a substitute for embroidery, in the composition of dresses. Some embroideries are in one or two strong colors, used with black, or a dark color in the frock.

Not all the new arrivals use color lavishly. Many of them are one-color designs, having their embellishments, whether of stitchery, embroidery or other decorative features, in the same color, sleeve, shoulder, and their greatest distinction rests in being of tailored simplicity.

Just now the hue and cry is for the jersey-knit blouse or slipover, but it must be of the quality kind. Zest is added to the wearing of these slipover types in that it is possible this season to buy handsome knitted skirts, in plain stitch or plaided and striped, and also attractive wide-border effects.
With dainty lace collar accompanying, a jersey slip-over has no peer for refined appearance, and it is thoroughly practical for wear throughout the flake spring weather. Favorite colors for the coming season emphasize navy, army gray, a new French color called noisette, which is a very vivid light color tone as the dress. The popular colors are brown, cocoa, beige, navy and black, and the fabrics most in demand are the various weaves of crepe, pique and other twills and trico. Sleeves are emphasized, most of them flaring and ingeniously managed. The long peasant sleeve appears on crepe frocks, but a few of the new models have dared to present themselves without any sleeve at all. The jacquette, with straight or surplice front, and the bertha have both been embodied in the designs for frocks, and graceful, floating panels and uneven hem lines are still with us.

When it comes to fashion, schoolgirls have a way of establishing a code of rules for correct dressing which to transgress means to lose caste in one's set. So, when daughter comes home and announces that "all the girls are wearing" this or that, it amounts to an ultimatum to the family. Father forthwith proceeds to get out his check-book or mother takes inventory of the contents of her purse.

It is a rigid test of conservatism which these knitted garments must pass in order to qualify. Strictly pure wool is the first requisite—and they must be correctly detailed in proper neckline, brown, strawberry red and, for summer, pure white knits, sweaters and skirts promise success.

Attention is called to the pleasing effect of the knitted slipover for young girls as presented in the picture here. Notice it has a tie grille and two pockets with two pearl buttons each.
The other young girl is wearing a button sweater, medium weight, shaker stitch, with two patch pockets. The bodice and belt is done in rack stitch with contrasting narrow stripes around the bottom. The cuffs are ribbed and there is a fancy collar.

For a Small Girl.
An adorable dress for a small girl is made of apricot-colored handkerchief linen, with a wide collar edged with Valenciennes lace. Around the bottom and up one side is a fold of white linen set on with seaming. A row of tiny white crocheted buttons and very brief sleeves add to the effect.

The combs do not stand out at an angle, but curve to the shape of the head and extend forward and upward. Instead of being leveled they frequently are very long slender sticks of enamel in extraordinarily vivid shades.
Gray for Coats.
Gray is a very popular color for coats. A smart move is to band with gray squirrel and small bands of black band, with just a touch of sap blue.

Western Canada Farms may be profitably Rented

In Western Canada there are farms to rent, ready for occupation, complete with good buildings, necessary implements, and in some cases stocked, which may be rented with profit to the tenants.

They may be had in well settled districts with modern rural conveniences, with schools, churches and elevators close at hand, and, in most cases, near-by railways and good roads.
Securing lots of land to rent or for sale is a new departure of the Department of Immigration. Renting land affords an opportunity for the man desirous of learning something of a country before he decides to purchase, earning a living and making money while gaining experience at low cost. Rent now if you choose, and buy later when you are satisfied.

It is worth an investigation. Share in the laurels and the profits of a country that has been awarded many world's championships in Wheat, Oats, Barley, other grains and Live Stock. Where you will find a comfortable home and be able to produce at the lowest minimum cost.

Never in the history of agriculture has there been a greater need to reduce the cost of production, necessitated by present decline in prices, and no better opportunity than that has ever been offered. Low priced land that will yield a fair proportion of its cost each year is the first essential to profitable agriculture. That you will find in Western Canada.

In addition to lands for rent, there are improved farms for sale in some districts, as well as unimproved prairie land, held by railways companies and large holders, that is being offered for sale at low prices and on easy terms. The opportunity to secure free homesteads is also well open.

In all parts of Western Canada crops of high value are grown: Wheat producing from 20 to 40 bushels per acre. Oats giving exceptional yields. Barley producing, Oats and fodder crop in quantity and quality that have proved cattle feed stock raising, dairying, etc. have unequalled possibilities.
