Beatrice Chlopicki, 18, Sergeant Avenue, Hamtramck.

Joseph Kopski, 21, Pollard avenue at Joseph Campau avenue, Hamtramck.

Swerves From Road

Various stories have been offered relative to the manner in which the fatal accident happened, the most reliable being that the driver of the ill-fated automobile was coming northward when he saw another motor car with a machine standing in the roadway, the driver of which was repairing a tire...

Motorman Thomas Maxwell of Hazel street, Birmingham, seeing the automobile speeding toward him on the tracks, hastily shut off the power.

Public Warning

The motor car with its seven occupants was struck with such force that it was literally hurled back into the air, being thrown for 200 feet in all directions.

Five Killed outright

Five of the seven were killed outright. The remaining two were started toward a Detroit motor car, driven by George Dowd.

Traffic was blocked for nearly two hours at the scene of the accident, but the bodies were removed.

Joint Funeral Services

Joint funeral services, with burial in Mt. Olivet cemetery, were held for the five children of Thomas Maxwell...
