

Mrs. A. Carter VanDerveer of Elizabeth, N. J., is the guest of Mrs. Harold Salisbury of Pierce street. Mrs. Salisbury is a niece of Mrs. VanDerveer.

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Donovan of Bloomfield Center, are visiting this week with Mrs. Catherine Bigelow of New York City. They will return home next week.

Thursday of last week, Mr. and Mrs. James Messmore entertained Mrs. A. B. McDonald and Mrs. C. VanOrmer of Detroit, at their home on Oakland avenue.

Theatres

At The Howland, Pontiac
This week at the Howland Theatre the Princess Players are presenting a comedy entitled "She Walked In Her Sleep." The action all happens in a large hotel, and it happens because a certain young girl walked in her sleep and didn't know she did it. "She Walked In Her Sleep" will be the attraction at the Howland up to and including Sunday night. And the play for next week starting Monday night is the first complete Western drama yet to be presented by the Princess Players, "The Squaw Man." This play served as a starting school for several years for William Faversham known as one of America's most distinguished actors. "The Squaw Man" is a drama of the beaver nature, the scenes of the first act being laid in a quaint old garden in England, and we are then taken to the sun-baked lands of Wyoming in the early days. "The Squaw Man" will be the attraction at the Howland all next week starting Monday night.

At the Baldwin Theatre, Royal Oak
A cast which numbers some of the most popular actors and actresses in motion picture today, will present "Quincy Adams Sawyer," the photoplay which is scheduled for presentation on Sunday and Monday, March 11 and 12 at the Baldwin Theatre, Royal Oak. It is just one of the elements which go to make this motion picture one of the truly worthwhile screen efforts of the season. Persons who have seen this rare picture in its screen form maintain it is a delightful and at the same time, exciting and interesting picture.

In the strong cast is seen Blanche Sweet, Lon Chaney, Barbara La Marr, John Barrymore, Elmo Lincoln, Hank Mann, Louise Fazenda, June Elledge, Zasu Pitts and others.

The photoplay is a screen version of Charles Felton Pidgin's novel of the same name, of which more than a million copies have been sold. It is considered the most representative of all dealing with rural life in New England.

Clarence Badger directed this photoplay for which Bernard McConville wrote the scenario. It was produced by Arthur Sawyer and Herbert Lubin, and is released by Metro.

"Greenwich Village Follies" At The Garrick, Detroit
The third annual edition of that vivid and electric revue, the "Greenwich Village Follies," well remembered in Detroit for its noteworthy engagement at the Garrick Theatre last November, returns to that theatre Sunday for a week's engagement. Since its earlier engagements here the "Follies" has toured the major cities of the Middle West with signal success, and has just recently concluded a long and highly profitable run in Chicago. It will be presented ideally as on its first visit, with cast and production intact and unaltered.

With this pictorial and music show comes Ted Lewis, known the length and breadth of the land as the high priest of jazz, and his famous band. Lewis will offer an entirely new program of songs in this return engagement of the "Follies." Among the new numbers which his band will render are "Toot, Toot, Toots, Good-bye," "Runnin' Wild," "Hot Lips," "Loving Sam," "Homesick" and "The Tiger Rag." He will also play "Three O'clock in the Morning" and "Down the Old Church Lane," as on his first appearance this season.

Bonstelle Company Presents Farce at Shubert-Michigan, Detroit
"Charley's Aunt" is a farce which has endured since 1892, and has been played in Detroit many times; also which is produced in London, England, each year for a long run, has been selected by the Bonstelle Company as the offering at the Shubert-Michigan next week.

This play is being offered by Miss Bonstelle on account of the numerous requests, and Minor Watson as Charley's Aunt will be afforded an unusual and unique opportunity. It is pure fun and glorious foisting of a quality which has enabled "Charley's Aunt" to hold its theatre for thirty-one years.

At the I. O. O. F. Temple William S. Hart, the film star, who is so popular with a good many picture fans, will be seen at the I. O. O. F. Temple tomorrow in another of his western dramas, "Travelin' On." The action of the picture is said to be exciting from start to finish and the plot affords Hart an opportunity to show his powers as a fighter and a gunman, it is declared. There will be other attractions to complete the bill for Saturday.

Wednesday shows at the I. O. O. F. Temple. It was announced by the management late this week, and has been discontinued. According to Charles J. Hallock, Wednesday pictures will probably be shown again during the summer months.

Robert A. Nahrang, manager of the Consolidated Syndicate Store, 125 West Maple avenue, stated late this week that everything would be in readiness for the opening of this new establishment tomorrow morning.

Wednesday evening, Mrs. Uriel McFawn of Baldwin avenue, entertained Miss Imogene Gray, Miss Baker and Mrs. S. F. Trumbull at a dinner.

Mrs. Rose Houchin of Pierce street, is ill with a gripple.

Mrs. Jack Lamb has recovered sufficiently from a recent operation at the Pontiac City Hospital that she was able to return to her home on Park street, Saturday. She is slowly getting better.

Thomas Williamson and Howard Thagge motored to Akron, O., the first part of this week and returned today accompanied by Mrs. Williamson, who has been visiting there for about a week.
