

Mrs. Claude Bowles of Bates street, who recently underwent an operation at the Pontiac City hospital, is improving, although she has not recovered sufficiently to be able to return to her home.

A few friends of Mrs. Mack Spain had a surprise party for her at Ford Place, last Wednesday. A pot-luck dinner was served. She was presented with a beautiful hand-painted bread plate.

BALDWIN BEACON

NORTHERN HIGH WINS FROM BIRMINGHAM, NINE 11-10

Birmingham high school's baseball nine lost to Northern High 11 to 10, after getting six runs in the first inning. The ground was like cement and once a ball got loose from a fielder it was a home run. Northern had two of these lucky hits, both coming at the right time and both into left field. The first one came in the first inning with two on bases and the second in the third with the sacks filled.

Bill Drake started on the mound for Birmingham but was a little wild and Schorr replaced him and held the Detroiters to two hits in five innings. Nolan, Northern's pitcher, was hit hard in the early stages of the game but soon cooled down and allowed but few hits, which were well scattered. At the end of the sixth inning Northern led by 11-8. In the next two innings Birmingham scored a run and were held hitless in the ninth.

The local team is having the same luck that the Tigers had in their opening games; outplaying and outting but losing by a point.

Today we play our first-home game with Royal Oak. Last year this team defeated us, but this year the story is going to be different. Everybody out, and see us beat them. The lineup—

THEATRES

Chauncey Olcott in Return Engagement at the Garrick, Detroit

Chauncey Olcott, America's foremost exponent of Irish romance on the stage and pastmaster of popular lyric tenors, is once more to grace the local stage, to the keen joy of his thousands of admirers, young and old. Mr. Olcott is to occupy the Garrick stage, Detroit, for one week, beginning next Saturday evening. It has remained for this eminent star to occupy a niche in the theatrical hall of fame quite unique in many respects. For season after season Olcott has provided wholesome entertainment of the peculiarly fascinating description afforded in a combination of Irish romance and tuneful popular ballads. Possessed of a velvety tenor voice, a dashing spirit and an infectious comedy vein, Mr. Olcott has managed to acquire many plays that have been accepted as ornaments to the American drama by legions of theatergoers. Without doubt, the nearest approach to true dramatic art in Mr. Olcott's repertoire is the present offering entitled "The Heart of Faddy Whack," by Rachel Crothers, author of "The Three of Us."

"Mary the Third" (now current on Broadway) and several other pronounced successes. Olcott has always been associated with everything that is clean and wholesome in American theatricals. His plays always have been refreshing, and not one has ever failed to give thoroughly satisfying entertainment in abundance. The theatre, with its present penchant for plays and bedroom farces, could use to great advantage many more artists of Mr. Olcott's type.

At the I. O. O. F. Temple

On Saturday, May 5, William Russell, a star of the Fox Productions, will be seen in his great picture, "The Great Night." A good comedy entitled "Young and Drunk" is said to be a screamingly mirth provoker. Show both afternoon and evening.

At the Baldwin Theatre, Royal Oak

Making burglary a profitable pastime ought to furnish any wealthy young man, suffering from ennui, with something different in the way of thrills.

At any rate, this leads to some most surprising situations in "Nobody's Money," a Paramount picture starring Jack Holt which will be the feature at the Baldwin Theatre, Royal Oak, next Sunday and Monday. For in that picture, which is a screen adaptation from William LeBaron's well known stage success, Mr. Holt has the role of a young man who is advised by his physician to "lay aside his work and get into something exciting to escape a nervous breakdown." He chums with a burglar, Eddie, whose fingers naturally cling with pertinacity to everything they touch. This is one of the most exciting and entertaining films Mr. Holt has ever appeared in.

The largest indoor set in the history of motion pictures. That's what is claimed for the huge prehistoric forest which forms the background for the "somewhat different" save-the-man sequence of "Adam's Rib," the new Cecil B. De Mille Paramount picture which features Milton Sills, Elliott Drake, Theodore Kosloff, Anna Ott Dexter, Theodore Kosloff, Anna Q. Nilsson and Pauline Garon, and which will be the big feature at the Baldwin Theatre, Royal Oak, next week, Thursday and Friday, May 10-11.

Paul Irlbe, art director for Cecil B. DeMille, used 225 plasterers and carpenters for two weeks in the construction of the set. Forty-five huge trees were built, twelve of them over fifty feet in circumference. The back-part of the set was elevated 18 feet in order to give a hilly perspective and make possible a bubbling, leaping brook which cascades over waterfalls to black forest pools. The trees tower to the full height of the stage, 30 feet.

The story of "Adam's Rib" deals with the troubles of a family of wealth, in which the daughter, by sacrificing herself. The theme tends to show that in all ages of man, from the cave-man period downward, human passions were the same, and that the flapper of today had her prototype in the cave-woman of thousands of years ago. But in "Adam's Rib," the modern flapper proves a woman of resource and practical value.
