Tea Given Saturday

The tea given last Saturday by Mrs. Joseph Hunter and Mrs. Dorothy Hunter Cortrell, her daughter, was one of the outstanding social events of the week in Bloomfield Hills. Mrs. Hunter and Mrs. Cortrell received their guests in the living room of the Hunter home, "Beechburn," which was beautifully decorated with chrysanthemums in fall shades.

The dining room where tea was served also was decorated with chrysanthemums in fall shades. The dining table held a large basket of fruit for a centerpiece, with smaller baskets of fall flowers at either end. About one hundred guests were present from Bloomfield Hills and Detroit.

Bloomfield Hills Country Club will be full this weekend with out of town guests and members from Detroit and Grosse Pointe. Reservations have been made for several weeks, taking practically every room in the clubhouse. The Steeplechase November meeting, to be held at the club, will attract many people to both the Club House and the homes of Bloomfield Hills residents.

The Bloomfield Open Hunt Club will also be a popular place this weekend, while visitors are here for the races. In the absence of large enough dancing space however, the formal dance November 3, and the informal party preceding the Steeplechase November 2 are being held at the Bloomfield Country Club. Arrangements have been made for a buffet supper at the Friday night dance, and a dinner before the dance Saturday.

One of the first social gatherings of the week last Sunday at the Bloomfield Open Hunt Club given by Mrs. John Smallman of London, Ontario, and Mrs. C. K. Morgan of London, England. About 45 members of the Hunt Club were present, including many who will ride in the Steeplechase Saturday, or will have horses participating.

Others entertaining this week end are Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Beggs, who have invited guests for tea following the races; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. T. Hendrie, who will entertain Sunday; and Mrs. Alexander Copland, who will have guests for luncheon before the Steeplechase.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mack and family moved to Detroit this week to spend the winter months. They will present their daughter, Miss Eleanor Mack, to society this evening at a ball given at the Country Club, which the younger set as well as those already prominent in society have been invited. A large number of friends from Bloomfield Hills will attend the ball.

Mrs. Ward Guichard entertained the Westminster Guild Wednesday afternoon at her home on Park street.

About 25 friends surprised Miss Addie Sly and her sister Miss Sadie Sly at their home on West Maple Road last Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rollins entertained their bridge club Tuesday evening at their home on West Maple Road. Dinner preceded the bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Debn, who during the summer have resided at their summer home in "Sloopy Hill," are now occupying their apartment at the Palms of Jefferson avenue, Detroit.

The masquerade party held at the Community House last Saturday evening was well attended by young and old. Between seven and eight children, numbering about fifty, were entertained. The chamber of horrors proving very popular, escorted the children through the chamber and ushered them into the presence of the fortune teller. From eight to eleven, dancing was the chief entertainment, about fifty young people attending. Cider and doughnuts were served.

Miss Helen MacDougall, Detroit executive of the Citizens Girls, Miss Edith Kemphorn, national field secretary of Campfire Girls, visited the Community House Monday afternoon. Tuesday evening, a dinner was given in Miss Kemphorn's honor at Davidson by the executives of the district. Miss Mary Martin of the Community House, was one of the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Brady, entertained fourteen guests at their home on Madison avenue, Thursday evening of last week. Dancing was the entertainment of the evening, after which a luncheon was served.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Bricker, of Ridgeway avenue, will be the guests of the Exchange Club of Royal Oak at a dinner held at Hotel Statler last Monday night.

Mable Luscombe, of Pierce street, and Miss Symons, of Brown street, spent last Monday night at the home of Mrs. J. Howard Wendolph, of Roseland Park Cemetery, Royal Oak, spent Sunday with their parents, Rev. and Mrs. W. C. McKnight, of West Maple avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Wendolph, of Roseland Park Cemetery, Royal Oak, spent Sunday with their parents, Rev. and Mrs. W. C. McKnight, of West Maple avenue.

The county Federation of Women's Clubs met Thursday at Holly.

Teachers Entertained by P. T. A.

The Baldwin unit of the P. T. A. entertained the Baldwin teachers at a dinner party at the High School Thursday night. The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. Roland C. Mann, Mrs. Charles Taylor, and Mrs. James Cobb, and they provided not only an exceptionally fine dinner, but also very unique features such as the place cards appropriate to each individual teacher, and the conundrums and guessing games that caused a great deal of merriment. The affair was voted a great success. The Baldwin unit of the P. T. A. will hold its regular meeting Tuesday evening, November 6. A good speaker is expected, and the Glee Club under the direction of Miss Mary Grattan will render several numbers followed by a short playlet given by children from the 7th and 8th grades and directed by Miss Fuller. Parents are urged to be present.

Baldwin Unit of P. T. A. Meeting

Monday afternoon, November 5, at 2:30 will be the regular meeting of the Baldwin Civic League. A cordial invitation is extended to the women of Birmingham to come and assist in the discussion of the constitution which has been drawn up and will be discussed and adopted at this meeting. Those are invited to join in the league that you will eventually join. Why not now?

At the meeting, the first study circle in the form of a "round-table discussion" will be conducted by an able leader. Civic interests in the city and this will be of interest to all.

The membership dues are fifty cents and this will take care of the discussion without further assessment.

Hill P. T. A. Meeting

The regular meeting of the Hill P. T. A. will be held at 3:30, November 6, Tuesday afternoon.

American Legion Party

The American Legion Auxiliary held a "Holloween Party" Tuesday evening at the Community House. The rooms were prettily decorated in Halloween black, and the entertainment consisted of dancing, games, and fortune telling by Mrs. Alfred E. Potts and typist Helen. About twenty-five couples were present.

O. E. S. Card Party

There will be an O. E. S. Card Party Saturday evening, November 3, at 8 o'clock, to be held at the Woodward avenue Motor club. All Stars, Masons, and their invited friends will be welcome. Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. E. N. Rosso, Mrs. George Newman, and Mrs. Homer Leonard.

KNOWLEDGE OF USE OF LIBRARY

FACILITIES INCREASE RESULTS

High school students should know how to use books and libraries! That is not merely a statement, nor just a platitude. It is a truth which ought to be realized.

The modern teaching methods, instead of confining a student to the prescribed textbooks, often requires the use of a variety of material. In even a small library, such as Birmingham, the student is offered so much material in such amount, variety, form, and arrangement, that he wastes valuable time in trying to use it without knowing how.

It is a fact that without instruction so common a thing as an index of an ordinary book easily escapes the observation of the ordinary pupil. The unabridged dictionary is a wilderness, the card catalogue a mystery, and the special reference books quite beyond the understanding of the uninitiated. Simple instruction in the use of the library books early in the Freshman year affords a unique opportunity for educational advancement of the public library for vocational as well as cultural advantages. Because of this need, the High School and the Public Library are cooperating in the work of instruction the students at the very beginning of the High School course. Every effort is being made to acquaint them with the library, both through class and individual instruction, to encourage their frequenting the library for both leisure reading and study.

Among the best reference works in our library are Webster's New International Dictionary, The New International Encyclopedia, Who's Who in America, The Atlas, The World's Almanac, and The Reader's Guide.

"Who's Who" is an unabridged and has a revised war history, an alphabet of war terms, proper names incorporated in the alphabet, a list of abbreviations, a pronouncing biographical dictionary that gives the pronunciation of the noted person listed, their nationality, when they lived, what they were noted for, and the correct spelling of their names. There is also a pronouncing gazetteer.

This answers the most ordinary questions about any of the titles of geography with the correct spelling and pronunciation, the length of rivers, area of countries, and states. It gives too, all the arbitrary signs which are used in writing and printing, and a classified selection of pictorial illustrations given in the main body of the dictionary are concise, orthodox, in spelling and arrangement, on scientific and etymology.

"The New International Encyclopedia" is an American encyclopedia. It gives biographies at the end of important articles and is the best of all. The encyclopedia is a guide volume to the contents of that volume.

"Who's Who in America" is a biographical dictionary of noted living men and women of the United States. The are certain qualifications for admission to this "Who's Who" which are enumerated in the preface. These include the following: railway abbreviations, and pronouncing of difficult names, birth and residence statistics, geographical index, an index to biographies by state and post office addresses. This publication is entirely separate from the "Who's Who" which is an English publication.

The Atlas gives us a complete series of colored maps, showing the new boundaries of all the foreign states and dependencies, and maps of each state of the United States, including the newly organized countries, new revised maps of the principal cities of the United States, a war history and the changes made in the boundaries by the war. It gives valuable statistics and a descriptive gazetteer of each state and foreign country. All the maps are completely indexed, showing the population figures according to the New Federal Census.

The World's Almanac is a book of facts. It gives such statistics as postal information, calendar and astronomical calculation for 1923, records for the year, such as the death roll, aviation progress and records, the big problems of 1922-23, the enforcement of prohibition law and Germany's reparations plan, summaries of important laws, the constitution of the U. S., foreign countries and their population and areas, the Monroe Doctrine, weights and measures, election returns by state, qualifications for voting, literacy abroad, rivers and canals and things of that kind.

The Reader's Guide is a cumulative index to periodicals. It is issued monthly, yearly, and every five years in a large book published containing that which has been issued monthly all compiled in one alphabet. It is arranged alphabetically by subject. It is well cross-referenced and very accessible.

Beside such works as these every library accumulates material that is helpful but is in pamphlet form. For example the government publications which are sold and advertised, telling the story of wool, pictures, maps and classified book lists.

The Catalogue is the heart of the library. Without it the library could not function. It serves as an index to its work. Every volume has an author, title, and perhaps one or more subject cards. They are filled in the catalogue alphabetically under their proper headings. Each answer is a different question. The Author card answers, what books has the library? The subject card answers, what books has the library? The title card answers, if one is looking for "American Commonwealth" by James Bryce, it may be found under "Bryce, James" in the drawer containing the "B's".

In the upper left hand corner of the "Who's Who" is the number 342. This number is the guide to where it can be found in the library. 342 will be in the shelf labeled "Who's Who". Fiction has not a class number, however, but is grouped together and arranged on the shelves alphabetically by author.

Mr. C. C. Osborne was elected to replace Mrs. Fred Ross as delegate to the County Federation meeting at Holly November 11, as Mrs. Ross will be unable to attend.

The work of the County Tuberculosis Hospital in Pontiac was discussed by Mrs. W. D. Clabe, and it was decided to collect a gift of canned fruits and jellies and send them to the hospital. Members of the club and interested persons are requested to bring anything in this line they are able to contribute to the County House next Tuesday afternoon.

Next week the reports of the delegates to the State and County Conventions will be given.

Earning Money

is sometimes much easier than saving it—and the saved money is the only money that counts. The rest is just expense money; what you save is profit.

If you're good enough to earn generous wages, you ought to be good enough to save part of them. It's at the First National Bank.

It's Not a Home Until It's Planted

A Charming Home
The Proper Landscape Setting of the home adds much to its beauty and charm. To obtain the required effect it is necessary to obtain good nursery stock and stock of good size. Many local home owners have come to us for their plant material and have been well repaid.

A call at the nursery may prove of interest to you and help you in your planting.
