ant in a few months, and was ushered into the new state organization as first lieutenant of Company I, Second Regiment, October 4th, 1918.

Company made a deep impression on him and coincided with his own sincere convictions. When invited to join the movement initiated by the president, Gideon T. Bryce, he disposed of his holdings in Chicago and went in his lot with the company.

company, and in a future issue we shall be at liberty to publish further developments engineered by this remarkable man in his fight for the "square deal" for farmer-producer and consumer alike.

BIRMINGHAM DAIRY IS SOLD TO NEW FIRM (Continued from Page One.) they now sell to the commission merchant. The two plants we have taken over in Birmingham are but the starter for a state-wide vehicle through which the farmer may dispose of his produce at a greater profit to himself and at the least cost to the ultimate consumer.

of Redford, and Miss Beatrice M. Dobson, of Detroit. The Mr. D. H. Carry will officiate at the wedding. A shower will be held for the bride, and a wedding supper will be given to which the public is invited.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT OFTEN SOUGHT AID FOR FARMERS (Continued from Page One.) is a striking commentary that these ideas recently promulgated by Mr. Roosevelt actually formed the basis on which the Company started out on its missionary work two years ago!

strong enough to carry through the ideal of selling direct from one to the other at prices to which they are economically entitled. It is the "practical instrument" suggested by Mr. Harding.

W. G. HARDING BOOSTED THE FARMER COMBINE (Continued from Page One.) to their own responsibilities, or to establish and use practical instruments for the distribution of credits and the assurance of most economical marketing methods.

Sunbonnet and Common Sense Feeds The formulas for these feeds embody the ideas of the highest authorities that can be consulted. There is absolutely no variation in them on account of market fluctuations in price of any of the ingredients. These Feeds Are the Same Today and Tomorrow They are intended to build trade for the future. To do this, they MUST be honest feeds. Many of the largest feeders in Oakland County are using these feeds, and without exception pronounce them the best values they have found. Feeders are invited to inspect our new plant, which is one of the best equipped in the country. The C. E. DePuy Co. PONTIAC MICHIGAN
