TAMED.

Swift used to be a great outdoor man and all-around sport. Is he reconciled to married life?

I think so. I called on him recently and found him sifting ashes with an old tennis racket.

AN IDEAL FINISH

Egg: When my time comes to be poached, I hope to find a nice slice of toast to lie on.

TOWN PESTS

This Sweet Child ain't Really got No Blames in Dese here Post Pictures, for he's only a Gay College Boy home for the Vacation, but Still the New Line of Campus Slang and his Giddy Gabble of Frats and Frosh and Shifters and Flappers and Studes does become Rather a Bore before October.

HAMBONE'S MEDITATIONS

UNCLE HANK

Judgin' by the way some men kick, it seems reasonable to believe that the Creator made a mistake by giving them only two legs.

THE CHEERFUL CHERUB

I love the days of cloud and rain
With everything in mist half-hid.
When motor cars go gliding past
It thrills me so to see them skid.

FATHER KNEW OTHERWISE.

I don't believe that music teacher can make anything out of Katherine's voice.

You're mistaken. He's made over a hundred dollars out of it already.

ALWAYS IMPRESSIVE.

He is some pompous, eh?

Yes, he goes through life like a parade of one.

INQUISITIVE.

Ma, what is it, Willie?
