It Scatters Yellow Fever.
The frightful disease, yellow fever, is carried and spread exclusively by the species of mosquito, the stegomyia, which is the common house "sleek of the tropics. It is very tiny—so small, that ordinary wire screens will not keep it out—and strikingly marked—a silvery white lyre-shaped pattern on the thorax, white stripes on the abdomen and legs banded black and brown.

Mile-high Danong.
In Colorado's sunny state, dancing with its gold prospectors and mining porrites, outdid the world's endurance runners. They worked and played for days at a time, living on the "dry" diet. "It's day all day in the day time and there is no night in 'Credo'."

Theatres

At The Baldwin Theatre Sunday and Monday, Sept. 16-17th.

Gaston Glass, who recently won a popularity contest through ten thousand theatres in the United States as a successor to Valentino, has a role of prominence in "The Girl Who Came Back," a featured picture presented by B. P. Schulberg, playing at the Baldwin theatre Sunday and Monday. But the sleek perfection of Valentino or who saw Gaston in the Brazilian picture in "Rich Men's Wives," let it be known that Glass is not the typical matinee idol in the typical sense of wearing a fifteen dollar suit and an unbecoming growth of whiskers. He has the opportunity of doing a clever, witty acting as the down-and-out-er whose life is stained by a prison record.

At the Baldwin Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 18-19th.

Score another for Ralph Ince and L. R. Sheldon, co-directors of "Counterfeit Love," at the Baldwin theatre Tuesday and Wednesday. When Ince takes his magic wand—or megaphone—in hand, something happens, and that something is good, real, live and absorbing entertainment. "Counterfeit Love" is all of that.

Romance—with Jerroks, adventures, a girl-of-course—and one of the most blood-tingling horse races have ever been on the screen, go to make this a splendid bit of entertainment.

The story is too good to give away. Suffice to say that the interest of the audience is kept up from the opening title to the final tableau, and there is not a draggy or dull moment throughout.

Charming Marion Swayne plays the leading feminine role, a Southern belle, who successfully fights off a battle against a band of counterfeiters, the leader of whom had almost succeeded in ensnaring her in his toils.

The culmination of a series of thrilling episodes is a big horse-race scene which sets the climax to an absorbing photoplay in which the false purveyor of spurious love and pecuniary money is denounced. The denouement is startling—and satisfactory.

Norma Lee, Joe King, Jack Richardson, Irene Boyle, Isabel Fisher, Alexander Golig, Danny Hayes, Francis Grant and William Jenkins complete an excellent cast.
