Broadway Musical Revue
Coming To The Baldwin
In endeavoring to give the patrons of the Baldwin Theatre and theatre-goers in general, a varied entertainment from time to time, the management of Royal Oak, the most popular amusement place will present on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next week, April 25-26-27, the well-known musical revue "Personalities" with a cast of Broadway celebrities numbering 25 of the best people. Among the cast are such people as Annie Kent and Minnie Allen, The Poster Girl, Bill Foster, Eleanor Williams, Eddie Hill, Edna May Foster, Dale Prince and a score of others including the Winter Garden Syncopters, a Jazz Band of 6 real musicians.

"Personalities" is a new musical idea of Zeinfeld's Midnight Frolic and opens with a Prologue entitled "Parade Junction." The company carries its own musical director, stage carpenter and all special scenery and light effects. The entire production can well be realized when it is known that the big stage of the Baldwin Theatre will be taxed to its limit to properly stage this entertainment. Owing to the length of the show the regular feature picture will be eliminated, but the usual Pathe News and a special "Our Gang comedy" will be given.

Feeling that in bringing this company to Royal Oak, that there will be a tremendous demand for tickets, and in keeping with the policy set by the management of the theatre to give the most for the money, the present scale of prices will prevail at all performances. Two full and complete performances will be given nightly at 6:45 and 9:00 P. M.

William S. Hart in "Singer Jim McKee" will be the feature film attraction for the last three days of the week together with a program of 5 high class Vaudeville acts and the News and Aesop's Fables.

Next Sunday only, "The Man Between" and 5 stellar acts will be the features which Jack Holt, Nita Naldi and Agnes Ayres will be seen for the last times tonight and tomorrow in the Paramount picture, "Don't Call It Love" with a special bill of Vaudeville as an added attraction.

"Flowing Gold" and "Hoodman Blind" at The Royal Next Week
"Flowing Gold," The First National picture produced by Richard Walton Tully from the famous Rex Beach novel, which opens at the Royal Theatre, Royal Oak, next Sunday for three days, is typically and essentially an American tale. The world is the great southwest, but it is not in any sense of the word a "cowboy story."

When Rex Beach wrote of the oil fields of Texas during the recent rush that district, he wrote at first hand. Beach was there, and studied every angle of the industry, and the features about him. Never has he written of more fascinating and appealing people than those he has written of in this mighty story.

Scandal mongers are a scourge upon humanity. Their serpent like tongues emit a poisonous venom, deadly than any known to science. A woman's fair name to them is like the tenderest fibre before the needle of the press. They are ready to tear a soul to shreds upon the least provocation. An illustration of the viciousness of the species is to be found in "Hoodman Blind," the William Fox version of the play by John G. Arthur Jones and Wilson Barrett, which will open an engagement at the Royal Theatre next Wednesday for two days.

A Garage?

The garage illustrated is one of the many distinctive and practical models presented by our selection. For one, we can more afford to have a garage than ever before. Why house your car in a shed, garaging it in bad weather, or being obliged to walk blocks to your home? An attractive and well-built garage increases your property value many times its cost of construction.

A reliable contractor will build your garage and put it in the corner you should use.
