

BIRMINGHAM ECCENTRIC

Founded in 1878 by Whitehead & McEachern... Published every Friday at Birmingham, Michigan, in The Eccentric Building, 126-128 North Woodward Avenue. Telephone 11 and 12. GEORGE RODGERS AVERILL, Editor and Publisher.

a book do not create the same impression in the mind of the reader that they do in real life, then they cannot properly be termed "true to life." This much may be said in favor of "romantic" methods.

CO-OPERATION—WHERE ART THOU?

Residents who live in the territory which Birmingham desired to annex at Monday's special election in no uncertain tones have signified their intention to remain as they are. And thus we see how each individual in this country is given full protection for his own opinion on a matter.

WHEN I AM CLOSE TO GOD

When I am all alone—away from all turmoil and the hum of striving in the noisy world to gain a level, where I can, with undimmed eye, scan the vast area of life—When, in this solitude with naught but sacred musings to console

A GOOD ORDINANCE

The passage of the new village ordinance prohibiting the burning of waste paper and other combustible rubbish within the fire limits of Birmingham is a splendid safeguard for the well-being of Birmingham's life and property.

Just Bits of News Gleaned From Old Files of The Eccentric—The Items That Make Up the Historical Background of the Birmingham Of Today

A REAL TEST OF CITIZENSHIP

From now until September 9 the people of Birmingham and vicinity, along with the rest of Michigan, will be given a chance to study the merits of the various candidates who will—by printed and spoken word—endeavor to endear themselves to an often fickle constituency.

The "Zooks" are the coming baseball club of Plety Hill. Master Jimmie Wooster is visiting with his brother Levi, at Clyde, Michigan.

REALISM VS. ROMANTICISM

The average person's judgment of any piece of fiction depends largely upon what has entered into his own experience. If a story presents unfair types, or abounds in sentiment, foreign to his ideals, he often brands it as "untrue to life."
