PUBLIC SHOULD DECIDE GAS TAX

Directors of the Detroit Automobile Club warmly resent any effort to confuse their attitude of motorist taxation with any other legislation scheduled for consideration at Lansing during the legislature session of the coming year.

Neither the directors nor the Club as an organization have taken any stand on the reappointment proposition.

No Connection, Says Hines

There is no connection between the gasoline tax and any proposed reappointment measure that may be considered, declares Edward N. Hines, a director of the Club who is known informally as the "Father of Concrete Highways."

The Detroit Automobile Club believes the gasoline tax to be fundamentally wrong in principle...

Referendum Is Sure

If the legislature is sincere and confident in the justice of a gasoline tax, it will be afraid to trust the "people," concludes Mr. Hines.
