Next Week's Attractions
At The Baldwin Theatre
Next week Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, December 8-10, Lois Wilson and an all-star cast of screen artists will be seen in a film version of Cosmo Hamilton's great novel "Another Scandal" said to be one of the most interesting photoplays released so far this season. Miss Wilson and those who support her in this feature need no introduction to film fans in Royal Oak and vicinity and "Another Scandal" is sure to please here as it has done wherever it has been shown. A special bill of big-time vaudeville acts have also been booked in to be shown in connection with the attraction.

For the last three days of the week Thomas Meighan will be featured in James Oliver Curwood's North-West story "The Alaskan". Most everyone is familiar with Curwood's stories and in "The Alaskan" Tom Meighan has a role just suited to his personality and style of work. Every scene was filmed in Alaska, making it an eye-opening attraction and one that will more than please all who see it. Vaudeville will also be an added attraction with this feature.

Harry Carey will be seen next Sunday only, December 7th, in a thrilling feature photoplay "Roaring Rails". This is a story of the west, depicting a rugged, trail-blazing locomotive through a raging forest fire with Harry Carey at the controls. The picture is a gripping and rather screen novel's will complete the program which runs continuously from 11 p.m. to midnight.

"Mavis' Whirlpool" with James Kirkwood and Lila Lee and a bill of vaudeville and variety acts will show the final three days of this week.

"The Proud Princess" A Grand Romantic Comedy
At Grand Theatre
The producer, author and cast of "The Proud Princess", which opens at the Grand Theatre Sunday, December 7th, are all well-known figures in the theatrical world, and their combination makes an event of unusual interest. It is a play, a dashingly romantic comedy in a modern setting, is the joint work of Edward Sheldon, who won his way to fame with "Romance" and Dorothy Donnelly, who numbers among other successes the charming musical comedy "Blossom Time". Stuart Walker, whom Detroit remembers for his delightful production of "Seventeen", presents the new piece. And McKay Morris, who has established himself as one of the finest romantic actors on the American stage, plays the leading role.

A warmly human story—dramatic, romantic and humorous—is unfolded in "The Proud Princess", that of a western girl who imagines New York society as a glorious realm where surroundings are beautiful and the people gracious and good. When she is suddenly made heir to her father's wealth, she carries off the family to New York to enter the land of her dreams. Only to find herself snubbed and ignored. Being a girl of spirit, she resolves to track her way in, parties at Italian or gan grinder to masquerade as a Princess and is presented as her fiancée. The result is a great success until the day set for the wedding draws near, and the pseudo Prince, who has fallen in love with her, refuses to vanish from the scene. Flery love scenes and equally flery battles ensue! Only the final curtain discloses the solution.

News From Franklin

By Charlotte Wood, Correspondent
NO GOLDEN RULE MEETING
The Ladies Bible Class, or Golden Rule Club did not meet at Mr. Herbert Master's last week, Friday, on account of the death of their president, Mrs. B. D. Wood, whose funeral will be held this Friday at the appointed place.

TO SCREEN COVERED WAGON
The Covered Wagon will be played here in the M. E. Church to-night and tomorrow night. The sale of tickets, both in advance and at the church, has been and will be in charge of the young men's and young ladies' Sunday school classes. The proceeds of the picture will be equally divided between the treasurers of the two classes. Each class in the entire Sunday school is endeavoring to raise a certain sum of money to apply on the debt incurred by the building of the parsonage.

SEWER OBSTRUCTS TRAFFIC
For several days the traffic on Main street has been obliged to pass over a narrow portion of the road, at the foot of the "school house hill," because the sewer has made it necessary to have a large part of the road torn up. However, last Friday afternoon, that part being finished which had before been torn up, the traffic was turned to the other side, and a narrow rut has been made in the soft dirt, and it is well to ascertain if you are the only one in sight before attempting to make your way over the mound of dirt.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society was held on Wednesday afternoon of this week at the parsonage, and home of Mrs. N. M. Pritchard. Quite a few were present at the assembly.

Mr. and Mrs. K. N. Tebbits have had as guests the past week, their daughter, Jenn, her husband, and two sons.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Baxter and daughter of Philadelphia, Pa., are the guests of Rev. W. T. Armstrong of Southfield. Mrs. Baxter is the sister of Mrs. Armstrong.

Community House News

Starting this morning and continuing through today and tomorrow, women from Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills are conducting the rummage sale in going for the benefit of the community house here. The sale is to be held in a vacant store in Pontiac between the two rail road tracks at 532 Saginaw street. The rummage has been collected here during the fall and this week the committees have been spending their time in the community house placing price tags on the articles.

The rummage includes clothing, furniture, odds and ends of household goods, suitcases, and books. The money raised through this work is to be used in defraying the expenses of the alterations at the community house last spring.

Mrs. L. G. Welch is heading the general committee composed of Mrs. Arthur Hartwell, Mrs. Robert Christy, Mrs. R. A. Palmer, Mrs. Walter Motley, Mrs. H. M. Salisbury, Mrs. J. B. Williams, Mrs. C. H. Walker, Mrs. E. R. Meece, Mrs. H. E. Whalen, Mrs. Herbert Zerle, Mrs. C. B. Haslam, Mrs. Gilbert, Mrs. E. C. Vahry, Mrs. W. G. Wall, Mrs. H. J. Comline,
