Ypsi Central Spills Lacks 19-14; Birmingham Lacks Teamwork and Five Points

When the team shoots a whole mess of baskets it has a fair chance of winning; but when only one member of the team can get the range, it is pretty safe to bet they'll lose. B. H. S. sank Friday at Ypsi. On the opposing team was a trio that would be a pleasure to any quietist; and any Birmingham fan's inaccustomed mood, was doomed before they started.

The game was played in a long, narrow gym particularly well adapted to the five man offense offered by the hosts. Featuring Captain Marks, Leland and Corlette, indicators placed at strategic points made it worth while to know the lay of the land. Blisters were to be had for the backing up and sitting. The Ypsi team of this season is a very capable, veteran outfit and the fact that the game was even closer than the score indicates, serves to alleviate, in the fan's mind, the disappointment of the final defeat.

If there was any doubt about the ability of Captain Symons to set a shining example for anyone who is interested, that doubt was stamped out conclusively Friday evening. Never had a lost cause a more worthy champion. Due to the poor construction of the baskets the ball would rebound in all sorts of crazy ways when it hit the rim. This puzzled the Ypsi forward and even the reliable Shave failed to contribute. That left Puck facing the tremendous task of making good for the opposing team while Hunt strove desperately to keep them in hand.
