The True Blue Six

$995

Compare the price with what you get

Look the Oakland Six over searching before you choose your new car. See for yourself how much it offers for $995. If you can't spend this amount, or more, here are the tests which will help you to decide wisely.

1. Drive an Oakland six. Make performance your basis for comparison. You'll be glad to see its advanced construction, then you will understand its fine performance.
2. Examine its advanced construction, then you will understand its fine performance.
3. Test its construction by yourself. Then you will realize its great importance.
4. Examine its remarkable finish. Remember, that its taste is enduring.
5. Compare Oakland's Fisher built bodies with others. Consider beauty and sturdiness.
6. Find, if you can, a top which equals Oakland's permanent top in sturdiness and utility.
7. Observe Oakland's convenient controls on the steering wheel. Others use the dash.
8. See Oakland's unique glass enclosures for open cars. Everyone likes them.

Compare the Oakland Six with other cars, even those of higher price. Then you will realize why it pays to know this True Blue car before you buy.

OAKLAND SIX THRICE WINNER IN WEST RUN Church and Sunday School

For the third consecutive year the Oakland Six was a prize winner in the recent Los Angeles-Camp Curry Economy run—the classic event of its kind on the Pacific coast.

J. Peterson, at the wheel of a True Blue Oakland Sedan staged the big surprise of the run by trimming his team-mate, Harry Neville. Neville was a two-time winner of the sweepstakes trophy, taking both the sweepstakes and class cups with an Oakland car in 1922 and 1923, in both this event and the San Diego-Santa Cruz run.

Peterson won two cups—the cup in class 3-A with a gasoline consumption record of 22 gallons, averaging 18.18 miles to the gallon and a ton mileage score of 8418—and the cup for the best enclosed car record.

This year's run established an entirely new set of records because the course was different and the conditions of the contest were greatly changed. With the elimination of all coasting and turning off of the ignition system, even on down-grades, this year's contest was more severe than any individual owner would experience. The run virtually amounted to a non-stop motor event.

The route this year was longer than previous events by 40 miles but there were fewer miles of paved roads.

Due to the intense heat under which the run was staged, the event was not only a test of gasoline economy, but even more so of lubricating and cooling efficiency.

FACTORY SLOGAN BRINGS MAIL TO PACKARD PLANT

Students of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity at Lexington, Va., in a test to determine the power of trade slogans for advertising a product, wrote a letter explaining their intentions and addressed it simply to "Ask the man who owns one, U. S. A." It was received in the general offices of the Packard Motor Car Co. in exactly the same time as a properly addressed letter, according to factory officials. It is claimed that almost simultaneously with the completion of the first Packard car, 25 years ago, the slogan "Ask the man who owns one," was originated.

Conservation of the Douglas Fir.
On the north fork of the Willamette river in the Cascade national forest, Oregon, there are about 100,000 acres covered with Douglas fir of varying ages and it is estimated that if cutting progresses at the rate of 1,000 acres a year the timber on the unit now offered for sale to the United States government will be 100 years old at the end of the rotation and ripe for a second cut.

Plato and Aristotle.
There was between them an affection controlled by the knowledge of their mental differences. Plato would at one moment call Aristotle the genius of his school, and at the next laugh at him for seeking truth in books. "There is the house of the reader," he would say, in passing the dwelling of Aristotle, and go on to his own house, there to write books which he must have known would be read as long as men have eyes.—The Gentileman With a Duster, in "Seven Ages."

May Eat Toadstools.
Persons may eat toadstools and yet live, thanks to a medical discovery now being perfected in France. A horse was immunized by successive injections of poisonous mushrooms. The serum made from the animal was tried successfully on mice and rabbits who had been fed the deadly amanita mushroom.

Monday evening is the regular meeting of the Sunday School Board. Wednesday evening the Devotional meeting with praise and music. Meetings in St. Paul from his Epistle to the Philippians. Thursday afternoon the Women's Home Missions Society will hold their meeting at the home of Mrs. William Blumberg on Pierce street. This is the occasion for the election of officers for the coming year. The losers in the Epworth contest will be the winners. Let every member come. Sunday, June 15, Miss Emily Mutter, we wonder who will play both morning and evening.

The First Presbyterian Church.
Next Sunday, June 8th, will be observed as Children's Day throughout the length and breadth of the land.

The second Sunday of June is usually so-kept. It is the time of flowers and sunshine. The Children's Day service of this church will, therefore, be held at 10:30 Sunday morning. The children will gather in the Sunday School rooms at 10:15. Promptly at 10:30 the professional into the church auditorium will start. Parents of the children are asked to cooperate with us in getting the children to the church on time. The exercises will be by the children of all departments. The annual offering for Sunday School Missions will be taken. We trust it will be a liberal one. There will be no service in the evening on account of the heat. Everyone invited to the morning service. "Bring a friend to a friendly church." Visitors and strangers always welcome.

The First Baptist Church.

There will be services both morning and evening next Sunday in the Baptist church, corner of Bates and Willett streets. The pastor is the Rev. Thomas J. Edwards. In the morning at 10:30 the pastor will speak on "The Vision and Activities of a Great Denomination." The church will remember the Lord's death at the close of the service in the audience of the Lord's supper. The Bible school will follow at 12 o'clock. Mr. J. H. McBride is the superintendent. There are excellent classes for all. The pastor teaches the man's class. In the evening at 8:30, Mrs. Claude Howls and Mrs. Herbert Schultz will conduct the Junior church. In the evening at 7:30 o'clock, there will be an excellent traw service and the pastor will speak on "A Man Who Had His Hair Brought and the Price He Had to Pay."

WHERE CENTRAL QUILTS AT NIGHT

Continuous Service—Exceptional in Australia's State-owned Central Offices

Continuous telephone service available at any hour of the day or night, every day in the year, is the general practice in the Central States, and inability to have such service always at hand would seem extremely inconvenient to the average American. In most foreign countries, however, it is taken for granted, except in the larger cities, that only at certain hours in the daytime is it possible to use the telephone.

In Australia, for example, where the telephones and telegraphs are operated by the government, less than ten per cent of the telephone exchanges remain open throughout the night. The other 90% close in the early evening and the telephones are "cut off," generally until 9 o'clock the next morning. At those exchanges also telephone service is rendered even on week days. In fact, at many Australian exchanges service is given for 24 hours a day during the week, and not at all on Sundays.

Not only are Australians, outside the large cities, generally restricted to daytime use of the telephone, but more than 80% of the telephone exchanges in the Island Continent shut up shop also in the afternoon, the day for a "luncheon period" of one hour. If telephone service is desired during this intermission, notices must be given to the "office in charge" and extra "opening fees" must be paid.

In addition, more than 80% of the Australian exchanges have a "weekly half holiday" closing from 11 A. M. until 1 P. M. one day a week. There are also over 800 central offices at which the hours of service are thereby "arranged" between 7 A. M. and 11 P. M. according to requirements of subscribers served and local arrangements. In short, the average Australian needs a time-table to tell him when he can use his telephone.

Strange Blind Fish of Cuba.
Fishies unlike those found in its fresh waters of the United States inhabit the waters of Cuba. Some of these have evidently developed directly from marine forms in the waters they now inhabit. They are the art-cyclops species, inhabiting streams in caverns. They have no relatives in the fresh waters of any other region, the blind fishes in question being of a wholly different type. Some of the Cuban fishes are common to the fresh waters of the other West Indies.

CONSTANTLY IMPROVED BUT NO YEARLY MODELS

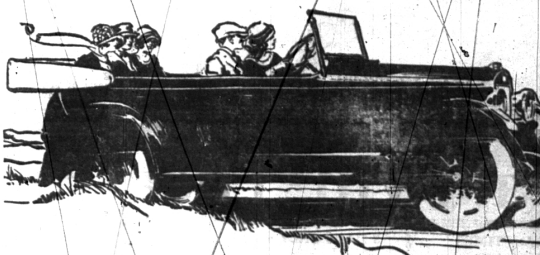

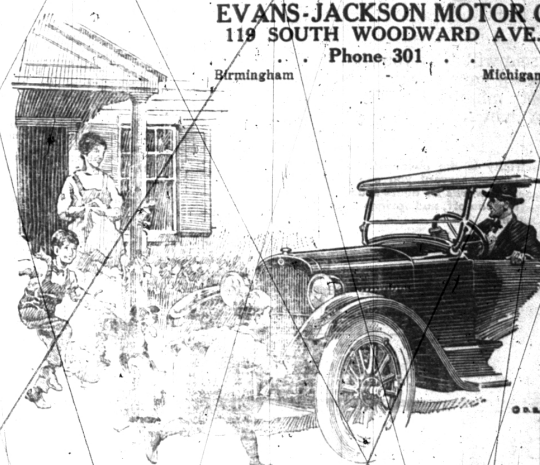

Dodge Brothers Motor Car retains its basic design year after year. Improvements are made constantly, but there are no radical annual changes.

This policy protects owners from the rapid depreciation-loss which invariably attends the periodic announcement of new types.

It also enables Dodge Brothers to effect an appreciable saving in manufacture; and this saving is faithfully returned to the buyer in the form of surplus value.

The Studebaker Light-Six!

More are sold than of any other six in the thousand-dollar price class!

More because—It is the sweetest, smoothest-running six you ever drove. It is specially designed offset valve motor, its machined crankshaft, its four big crankshaft bearings, its perfectly precisioned cylinders, pistons and reciprocating parts are the reason.

More because—no other car in its price class shows such obvious indications of quality—genuine leather upholstery, a hand-tailored top and curtains, carefully selected details of equipment, lustrous baked enamel finish.

More because—its 40-horsepower motor, its correct gear ratio, its beautiful balance and low center of gravity, make it like lightning in the "get-away," never falling on a hill, and effortless under a full load on any reasonable road.

More because—it is backed by a great service organization, immediately and willingly accessible.

More because—its recognized used car value protects you with the lowest possible depreciation when you come to trade it in.

To prove its goodness by performance we will lend you a Light-Six any day this week—come in and ask for it.
