The Misses Sly Give Two Social Affairs

Two socially brilliant affairs of the last week were the several bridge luncheons at the Oakland Hills Country Club when the Misses Addie Sly, Sarah Sly and Martha Sly of West Maple Road entertained formally Thursday of last week and Tuesday afternoon of this week.

On both occasions luncheon was served in the main dining room of the Club. The tables were arranged solid with artium foliage. Enormous shades of lavender, ranging to purple, decorated the table.

The lounge where the guests were taken for bridge after luncheon, was decorated in a similar manner, and were laid for thirty-two guests on Thursday and forty-six on Tuesday.

At her home on Hamilton avenue, Mrs. S. C. Mills was hostess to fifteen women from Drayton Plains at pot luck lunch Wednesday and at cards in the afternoon.

Points Out Need Of a Woman's Reformatory

Dr. Mary Thompson Stevens, of Detroit, speaking on Michigan reformatories for women, before the Birmingham branch of the American Association of University Women Wednesday at the St. James Church.

Dr. Stevens described the project which has been begun at Okemos, near Lansing, where the state has set aside a large tract of land and appropriated thousands of dollars to build a reformatory for women. It will be a half a mile from the city and the chimney of a factory will be visible from the site.

The matter of using the money appropriated is to be brought before the legislature again this year, and the speaker urged that as much of the university women as possible be present to give their influence to have a suitable reformatory for women.

The success of the Connecticut reformatory was mentioned, which is situated in a fine rural district where the inmates are given a course in improving their self-expression as well as in domestic and manual work.

There is also the Indiana institution, which since its beginning 30 years ago, has been managed without political interference or waste, by a board of four women.

After Dr. Stevens' talk, the association, as guests, St. Margaret's church, were served tea, and viewed in the cathedral pictures on exhibition.

The leaders of the neighborhood preschool child as far as possible, Mrs. A. Halgren are Mrs. T. O. Brown, Mrs. L. A. Moore, Mrs. V. Brown, Mrs. E. L. Mills, Mrs. Verne Williams, and Mrs. J. Williams.
