A free country is one in which everybody wants to do everything but go to the polls at election time to vote. One reason why LaFollette is popular among the ladies is because he remains well covered during the campaign. He was elected president is probably the dome of the Capitol building is held.

What has become of the good old merchant who used to stick a potato on the spot of the oil can? A lot of Detroiters who drive through Birmingham forget the police laws. They don't drive over 25 miles an hour in their own town, and then holler because local police pick them up when their speedometer registers 30 or better. "But they can't pass the buck in this town," replies Chief Anderson.

Undertakers in Orion must have done a big business last week. The front page of the Orion review was devoted to descriptions of numerous fatalities and several ordinary, peace- and death. In fact the editor, running out of phraseology, had to resort to the device of one citizen as "taken also."

The Woman's Club in our neighborhood has been debating the question: "Resolved, that women are largely responsible for the public opinion." We thought that the affirmative. We thought that the question was decided years ago; in fact, wasn't it? Anderson said, "All right, Eve, if you say so."

Henry Congdon, publisher of the Oxford Leader, is a lucky chap. Every year for the past 18 seasons Henry and his wife have gone north for three weeks to hunt deer. They are away now. When they get back next week they will stage a venison dinner for the weekly publishers of Oakland county—at least that was Henry's promise before he left. And Henry will have to deliver the goods—or he'll get a lot of terrible publicity upon his return.

An Oxford farmer fell out of a hickory nut tree and broke both his legs last week. "Must have been a funny kind of a nut to do that," remarked Bill Spivvers of Post Hill. "Bicycle and Auto Collide" says the Oxford Leader on its front page last week. "Yep, we alius see so," declared Silo Hogswallow when he heard about it. Then hiker are gettin' too thick for any good use nowadays.

"Leaks in water line under river fixed," laments the river bridge aid. "I wonder if the compositor made a mistake in the kind of pipe line in question."

A River Rouge boy, who "runs in" to the street, is sure to be struck down. That's what is claimed by a citizen there. Which proves that streets, like human beings, never can sell what they are likely to do.

Not long now before football will give way to snowball. One reason why they play football in the fall is to get up an appetite for the Thanksgiving turkey.

Speaking of Thanksgiving, have you mentally decided that you should be thankful for this year? One thing we all should be thankful for is the fact that we may be thankful to possess the privilege of being thankful for the things we should be thankful for.

Christmas is only a few weeks off. Have you prepared your shopping list yet? Let this be your guide: "Shop now for Christmas."

Then comes the New Year! Another beginning! A fresh lease on life! The twentieth century says your command. What will they bring to you? That, friends, is largely of your own choosing. "YOT" are destiny.

According to the Milford Times, its town band has been organized and will hold a series of weekly meetings through the winter. Likely like "a hot time in the old town" for Milford. "Not so bad at that," says Dave Ladd, who used to live in Milford. "A fellow can keep his windows closed in the winter time."

"I am proud of Club Women and stated Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, daughter of the famous W. J. at a meeting of Royal Oak women last week. "Gosh," opined George H. Mitchell, local Democrat, "if all the people that W. J. Bryan and his daughter have talked to would only vote Democratic ticket—well, all I can say is we'd have a lot of Democratic postmasters in this country."

Fire was discovered in the Royal Oak postoffice Monday morning of last week. It is believed that the prompt response on the part of the firemen awakened the postoffice employees so that they escaped unharmed.

"There are always two sides to any question," believes John Hanna, local citizen. Which makes us wonder which side of the question of widening Woodward avenue through Birmingham the state highway department will decide upon.

The first snow of the season, accompanied by a strong wind, struck Birmingham last Sunday. Now that the lawnmower is safely tucked away for the winter, better get out the snow shovel. Nature, you see, always provides plenty of exercise. Don't forget your winter taxes.

Round Your Own Hearthstone
the family circle gathers into the closest ties of the real home spirit. Note the pride with which the home owner says, "My family," "My children," "My Home." The pride of ownership, especially in the home, and the drawing of the home ties closer around the family circle on the hearthstone, is the laudable ambition of every red-blooded man.
Begin Your Home Today
by calling at our office and getting your copy of the NEW BOOK OF HOME PLANS. In this book you'll find just the design for the home that you've been wanting to build. Perhaps you'll want a few special features added to the design. We'll be pleased to prepare blue prints incorporating your own ideas in the design, and quote you prices on the home complete.
Drop in. We'll be glad to see you.
