THE PULPIT OF THE PRESS
A Series of Weekly Preachments by the Clergy of Birmingham.

THE SPIRIT OF LAWLESSNESS.
By Rev. T. J. Edwards, First Baptist.
The strength of our nation lies in the purity of our laws and our faithful obedience. The right of protest is always in order, but no law can be destroyed except by legal process.

WE HEARD IT SAID BY
(Little Editorial picked up by the Staff in and around Birmingham.)

Henry Wood Booth, Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills: "The attempt to force children into the streets by the Electric is out I read through the society column and find out what people on my way are leaving town, how long they will be gone, and that I can see that their mail is properly cared for in their absence. Many people are very thoughtful about their mail and fail to leave word with the carrier or a forwarding address. I don't know about the other carriers, how they find out when people on their route are gone, but to me the Electric means a great deal in that way."

with their whistles, but in the absence of them in Birmingham, I think the people really need a village operated village...

Arthur F. Tull, president of the Detroit Business Institute, at the Exchange Club luncheon Tuesday noon: "You folks who live in and near Birmingham do not—cannot—visualize the great growth to which our community that a wider Woodward avenue means. You will actually grow by leaps and bounds after this super highway is finished. Why, I personally know many people in Detroit who intend to come out this way to make their homes. Property values in Birmingham and vicinity will increase tremendously within the next five years."

BOARD OF EDUCATION.
Birmingham, Mich., Oct. 6, 1924.
The regular meeting of the Board of Education was held in the office of the Superintendent of Schools.

H. S. Starr, village manager: "There is nothing in the gas franchise between Birmingham and Consumers Power Co. as yet. The amount of pressure to be maintained in the local gas mains, 35 pounds is, as you know, it is my belief that the quality of gas furnished Birmingham is far superior to that of Detroit."

Ask Us About Printing.
MRS. CHARLES J. SHAIN OF PERRY STREET, speaking to the Literary Club of Birmingham, Monday afternoon, Oct. 13, 1924, at the club luncheon.

Fred Mallerard, of Quaton Road: "It is not a case of just bearsay, but this has been a most unusual autumn. Frost, of the killing kind, is the latest this year that it has been since the year 1892. At that time we had, I remember, just such a fall. To date there has been no real killing frosts. They have been just the white, light variety of the kind which winter has not been affected."

Joseph Brooks, Supervisor for South Birmingham, at his position, I am privileged to handle all of the plans for new subdivisions that are submitted for our Township. During the past several years, there have probably been more subdivisions than in any previous five years. We are having very fine homes in our section and in my opinion are approaching a period of great advancement, along Southside Road in particular, but spreading over the entire Township. Some of the plans submitted for acceptance have recently appeared to be very beautiful and I am very optimistic about the growth of my Township."
