U. of M. Students Are Backing Dean Cooley

Ann Arbor, Oct. 23.—Students at the University of Michigan have formed a Cooley for Senator Non-Partisan club to further the candidacy of Dean Mortimer E. Cooley of the college of engineering and architecture of the university. The move followed the formation of a Non-Partisan club by Ann Arbor friends of the Dean and other such organizations are springing up throughout the state.

Students look upon the club as an expression of their faith and respect for the Dean. It is their testimonial to him, showing their appreciation of what he has accomplished for them. Engineering students are not alone in the movement, for representatives of the various schools and colleges are working hard in behalf of the Dean.

The purpose of the Club is not only to get out the student vote, but it also is planned to keep the folks at home informed of the Dean's achievements. The students know his remarkable record at the University; they realize that he has made service his motto during the 41 years he has been connected with the institution, and they are eager to have the voters at home appreciate the need of at least one engineer in the United States Senate.

Make Each R.R. Crossing A Stop Street

Most Michigan cities compel motorists to bring their cars to a full stop before crossing any heavy-traffic street. This law is universally approved. It saves time and averts accident. It is wise and fair.

Yet heavy motor vehicle traffic is far less dangerous to you than a railroad train. Speed is the very essence of Railroad service. A train cannot stop quickly. Nor can it turn out to avoid hitting you.

Six states have already passed laws, making stop streets out of Railroad intersections. The time may come when the State of Michigan will compel you by law to thus protect yourself.

But, why wait for law, when you have common sense? Determine today that, from this time on, you will always bring your car to a full stop before crossing a Railroad track, anywhere—any time.

Everybody will approve your good judgment. Many will follow your example. And you will be relieved forever from the possibility of this, the most serious of common accidents.

News From Franklin

Franklin Cider Mill Is Popular Place This Fall

The old cider mill at the foot of the North hill that has worked constantly at various kinds of milling for over ninety years, a week ago started its cider presses for a busy year.

A steady stream of farmers line their wagons up at the front door of the mill. One half of their load usually goes to the first floor mill for first and four and the other half of the load goes down the shoot to the cider press.

According to Emmer Nichols, proprietor of the mill, this is ushering in one of the biggest years the mill has ever known for the cider business. The mill is accustomed to run in the latter part of November but Mr. Nichols expects to keep the mill active this year into the middle of December. One of the biggest takers in the history of the mill was recorded last week when there were thirty-six barrels of cider made.

What do they do with so much? From conversations overheard at the mill several people are wondering about that. Elzie Finkelstein, from East Detroit, appeared at the mill one day with his car full of apples, which means about three gallons of cider. About the time of his arrival a real farmer was departing with his 37 gallons. "My, My, My," said Mr. Finkelstein in astonishment, "What are you going to do with so much?" "Let it get hard and drink it," replied the local farmer. "What you call 'late don', with yours?" "Well," said Mr. Finkelstein, "I was emphasis on the 'was' going to have a little vinegar."

John Clemons Made Sexton Of Cemetery

John Clemons, who has been performing the duties of sexton at the Franklin cemetery for years without any official title, was officially made sexton at the end of the year by the Cemetery Association last week. This was the only change made in the officers and for another year, Miss Addie Sly will continue as president, William Spicer, vice president, and George Bingham, secretary-treasurer. The board of trustees, including Miss Addie Sly, Mrs. Mattie Cummings, William Spicer, George Bingham, Rye, Bingham, and Stanley Case will also remain the same.

For the present the hope of purchasing additional land has been abandoned. According to Mrs. Mattie Cummings, "The old board has taken on all the debts for so many years and we have just recently finished the last of our debts so that the cemetery is now free and clear of expense. Why should we take on more expense and the worry over raising the money to pay off the debts. We all have our lots and have done all our power to make the cemetery as beautiful as possible. I, for one, am willing now to turn over the work of getting new land to the younger generation. The work now should rightfully fall to them."

Cafeteria Supper For Hallow'en Eve

A cafeteria supper has been planned to give a touch of difference to the social sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association for Friday evening, October 31. Hallow'en games, a fortune teller, and other Hallow'en entertainments are to be used by the committee to make the social an unusual affair. The teachers are decorating the school and assisting in the preparations. The proceeds from the social are to be used in the purchase of new equipment for the school. The aim of the teachers is to start a fund to purchase a victrola for the school.

Two Industries In Franklin Village

A strikingly peculiar feature of Franklin is that, although a desperate scrutiny of the map of Michigan would not show Franklin, yet two industries thrive within her boundaries. The one is the tile company that employs several dozen men, and the other is the wood-crate plant. Passing through Franklin, there is no suspicion that behind the red front of the old blacksmith shop there is such a bee-hive of business. Elmer Walker has installed in the old shop two very modern and costly machines where nearly two hundred bushel crates are turned out daily. Shippers of the crates are made daily to Detroit and a surprising number of the crates are purchased directly from the factory by apple growers from the country surrounding Franklin.

STRAWBERRIES? ASK O. BERBER ABOUT THEM

How about a short cake for supper, Mother?" said Otto Berger to

Mrs. Otto Berger last Friday evening. Mrs. Berger answered that a short-cake would suit her just fine if Mr. Berger could produce the necessary strawberries.

That close to a shortage, Otto Berger was not to be disappointed. Going into his garden, which produces most everything in the line of vegetables, he returned soon after with almost a quart of strawberries. Upon investigating the plants, he saw an abundance of blossoms yet, proving that the Berger's strawberry crop is not yet over.

HOLD ANNUAL CHURCH BAZAAR NOVEMBER 21

More than fifty members and guests of the Franklin Ladies' Aid Society met for their monthly church Thursday of last week at the home of Mrs. Hatteman Wood. The particular work for this meeting was the arrangement for the Annual Bazaar and the setting of the date, which has been set for November 21. Everything for the bazaar, pie supper will be solicited and a quantity of candy, fancy work, and apples is being made up for the booths. One especially unusual article, that will be on sale at the bazaar is an applique bed spread, made of green that is the handwork of Mrs. William F. Wood.

The society expects to clear decidedly more than in former years, which has averaged more than $200.

FREEWALD TO ENLARGE GARAGE IN FRANKLIN

Answering the call for more garage space, Fred Freewald started the first of last week on building a new garage that will add an old garage, that has been in service for several years. The construction of the building will take about three weeks and when completed will accommodate about sixteen automobiles for storage purposes. The garage will have, also, an additional service room. This is the first building in Franklin to use in its construction the building in Franklin's own manufacturing plant. The tiles used in the building are from the Best Clay Products Company and are made from clay that is mined within a few miles of Franklin.

BOULTONS GIVE SURPRISE PARTY FOR THEIR SON, ALAN

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boulton surprised their son, Alan, last Friday evening on his eighteenth birthday with a party. Sixteen young couples from Franklin and Pontiac were invited to the Boulton home for an evening of games and stunts. Mrs. Boulton delighted her son's guests with the products of her day's baking and was assisted by Mr. Boulton, who served fresh cider.

INJURED WHEN TEAM RAN AWAY LAST WEEK

Edgar Ilike, superintendent of the Franklin Sunday School, sustained painful injuries late last week when his team ran away with him. He was working in the field when the horses were startled and he was thrown breaking two ribs. He was immediately taken to Farmington for medical attention and is reported to be improving.

A record was made in Franklin Monday morning when Sam and Art Baynes picked forty-six bushels of cucumbers and forty bushels of tomatoes and sold them, all before noon.

Feed Van Every left early last week for his cottage at Long Lake, Ionia county, where he is spending several weeks hunting and fishing. George Groves had a slight stroke of paralysis Saturday afternoon, two weeks ago, but is showing improvement at present.

Mrs. Andrew Bowden has been entertaining company from Chicago at her home for several weeks.

Thursday last week Mrs. I. H. Neff of Birmingham spent the day with Mrs. Mattie Cummings and Miss Nellie Camp was the guest for the day of Mrs. Lou Henry.

The meeting of the Golden Rule Society that was to have been held next Friday evening with Mrs. Alfred Curran has been postponed for a week because of conflicting dates with other social functions.
