The Chrysler Six is the dawn of a new day in conservation and application of power, utilization of space, unexcelled economy combined with absolutely even, consistent performance.

No one engineering feature among the score or more responsible for results never before achieved can be justly emphasized as the real secret of such revolutionary achievements.

Still others, like the low center of gravity, the perfect weight distribution, the new practice of spring suspension and the Chrysler-Lockheed hydraulic four-wheel brakes, have much to do with the car's superiority in riding comfort, roadability, steering ease and safety.

President Coolidge relating the history of a sap bucket which was the property of his great grandfather. This bucket was presented to Mr. Ford by the President. The picture, taken at the home of the President's father in Vermont, shows left to right: Mr. Firestone, the President, Mr. Ford, and Mr. Edison.

Washington, Sept. 12.—One of the outstanding features of the vacation trip of President Coolidge, who has just returned from a two weeks' stay at his father's farm in Vermont, was the visit of Henry Ford, Thomas A. Edison and Harvey S. Firestone.

On their annual camping trip, these three geniuses of industry and invention called upon the President on an automobile tour through New England, and for several hours discussed with him various problems and conditions. All three of them assured him of their hearty support of his candidacy for election.

The chief topic of conversation was the future prosperity of the country. The three camping companions assured the President that in their opinion, the continued improving prosperity of the country depended upon the condition of the farmers. Agriculture must prove profitable for America to continue prosperous, they said. "I think times are getting better, and for sound agricultural reasons," said Mr. Ford.

Interviewed during his call upon President Coolidge, Mr. Edison said: "We'll have great prosperity if the corn does not get nipped and crops in general are good."

Mr. Firestone declared that the farmer was the backbone of American prosperity. "Conditions in this country will continue to grow better so long as the farmer is prosperous," he said. "He is the barometer by which to judge conditions. His is the basic industry of the country, and the one upon which our prosperity depends."

After leaving the President's farm stone continued their tour through the Green Mountains, stopping now and then to talk with the people of rural New England and view the countryside. They spent the early part of their vacation at Mr. Ford's Wayside Inn, at South Buxbury.

Before visiting the President, Mr. Ford played host to 5,000 New England farmers at his Wayside Inn, estate at South Buxbury, Mass. With Mr. Edison and Mr. Firestone he supervised a plowing and agricultural demonstration, and invited the Farm Bureau Federation to use his grounds for its annual gatherings. On the same day the Holstein-Friesian Association gathered at Mr. Firestone's old homestead in Columbiana county, Ohio, for its annual picnic, as the guests of Mr. Firestone, who sent his son, Harvey, Jr., to welcome them in his absence.

In your business a machine must pay a profit beyond the cost of operation - and depreciation of that machine. Your wife is too valuable an asset to be used as a washing machine. Any method is cheaper for you than that.
