balancers, acrobats, trained pigs and chickens, ropers and plenty of clowns. This will be the first all-theatre-goer in general as well as Baldwin theatre and it is safe to say that it will prove an innovation to the theatre-goer in general as well as being a fitting prologue to the feature picture.

Bebe Daniels in "Dangerous Money" and a great Vaudeville program is scheduled for showing the last three days of the week, April 30, May 1st, and 2nd.

Wanda Hawley, Pat O'Malley and Wallace Berry will be the featured players in "Let Women Alone" which will be shown Sunday only, April 26th. Vaudeville and the Pathe Review will complete the bill which will run continuous from 2:30 in the afternoon until 11 p.m. at night.

Bebe Daniels in "Miss Bluebeard," a farcical feature and a special bill of 5 high-class Vaudeville acts is the current attraction the final three days of this week.

"North of 36," with Lois Wilson, Jack Holt and Ernest Torrence is being announced as a coming attraction on May 18-19-20th. No doubt most film fans are familiar with the story and it also might be said that it follows "The Covered Wagon" in many ways, both as to scenic value, cast of characters and in Western atmosphere. The story is decidedly better and the direction of the story leaves nothing to be imagined.

"APPREASURE'S" ENGAGEMENT EXTENDED ANOTHER WEEK

As a result of the enormous demand for seats for "Appreasure," which opened at the Garrick theatre Sunday night following a record-breaking run of eight capacity months at the La Salle Theatre, Chicago, Richard Herndon, the producer, has decided to extend the engagement another week which means that the final performance of "Appreasure," in Detroit will occur on Sunday night, May 2. Patrons are urged by the management of the Garrick theatre to order their seats for the second week of "Appreasure," at their earliest convenience, as all indications point to a complete sell-out for this remarkable comedy.

Those who found "The Goose Hangs High," to their liking will be pleasantly entertained by "Appreasure," which although it is a different kind of a comedy, nevertheless has the same kind of appeal that made it so popular in Chicago. The production of the son's outstanding hit in Detroit, which is by all odds the best laugh of the season, will be seen here this season.

"The Who Gets Slapped," with Lon Chaney, John Gilbert and Norma Shearer in the principal parts, has broken new ground in its popularity and remarkable attractions this year and which are crowding the Garrick theatre to the limit. The production of 1924-25, full comedy is heightened by an excellent cast of artists which includes the greatest of all principal parts, Lon Chaney, as the greatest character actor in the silver sheet is seen at his very best and the supporting cast of artists would make a wonderful cast in itself in some other theatre. The story centers around a clown in a circus, the league of the "big tops" and gives the audience a new and different type of entertainment.

As an added attraction to the management of the Garrick theatre has booked in a special six act all-circus Vaudeville bill that will meet with a delighted response. As the season progresses and bookings have already been arranged hand-to-hand to the end of the season of 1926.

Mattinee next week will occur as usual on Wednesday and Saturday. "MEET THE WIFE" IS NEXT WEEK'S PLAY AT BAUSTELLE

"Meet the Wife," of which the Evening Telegram said, "Not only contains the best in American comedy but also sparkles with the pep and dash of the cleverest French farces," will be the next offering at the Baustelle Playhouse, with Miss Bonstelle playing the role interpreted by Mary Boland.

It is the work of Lynn Starling and was originally produced by Stewart and French, who were also responsible for the production of "The Show Off," and again Miss Bonstelle scores in securing an early release of a big success.

"Meet the Wife," might be described as a bright and witty farce, so sparkling and witty in its comedy and laugh situations. The story has to do with a wife, married a second time, making elaborate plans to entertain a literary lion.

arrives and proves to be none other than husband number one, who some years previously left his wife to live a free and untrammelled life. Husband number one meeting husband number two is not uncommon in this life, but when husband one begins to gloat over his freedom and to indulge in flattery at the expense of husband number two. Finally, number two flies into a rage, declaring that if number one had not been such a coward and stuck to the matrimonial bank he, number two, would be free and enjoying the liberties now so thoroughly enjoyed by number one. However, they decide they should be friends. Of course, this is not all the story of "Meet the Wife," there is a daughter, who the self-confident Mother attempts to marry off according to her desires, an elopement and other strenuous situations.

Miss Bonstelle and her associates should find happy laugh material in this Lynn Starling diverting entertainment.

At the Baldwin Theatre, Royal Oak, for 3 days starting next Monday, April 27th.

Rubber Crisis Threatens America; Firestone Seeking New Sources of Supply

Left, Thomas A. Edison and Harvey S. Firestone watching a plantation expert tap a rubber tree on the Edison estate in Fort Myers, Fla. Right, Mr. Edison and Mr. Firestone, with a rubber plantation expert, examining a young rubber tree on the Henry Ford farm near Labelle, Fla.

HARVEY S. FIRESTONE two years ago predicted a rubber shortage, and said the British rubber restriction act would cost the American people millions of dollars. The British colonial possessions in the Far East produce about 80 per cent of the world's supply of rubber, while American manufacturers consume about 75 per cent of the world's supply.

Mr. Firestone has just returned to Akron, Ohio, after making a survey of possibilities of growing rubber in Florida, where he was accompanied by rubber plantation experts. On one of the tours in Florida he was accompanied by Thomas A. Edison, who made some important suggestions relative to new methods of extracting the latex or sap from rubber trees, plants and shrubs.

Rubber trees growing on the Edison estate in Fort Myers were examined, as well as those on the Ford estate in Fort Myers and the Ford farm near Labelle, Fla. A great deal of time was spent on the Government's Experimental Farm near Coconut Grove, Fla., where many varieties of rubber trees are being grown. Some of these appear to be very promising.

"Rubber is of vital importance to highway transportation," said Mr. Firestone, "and is largely responsible for our business prosperity. The British restriction act now limits production and exportation to one-half of normal production. Rubber today is about 200 per cent higher than it was when the restriction act went into effect. Rubber restriction this year will cost American car owners at least $100,000,000, and very likely $300,000,000. Every ten-cent advance in the price of rubber means an additional burden of about $75,000,000 to the car owner in the United States."

Mr. Firestone was instrumental in having Congress appropriate $1 million dollars for the investigation of new sources of rubber supply, and he sent out several expeditions at his own expense to visit rubber producing countries, including the Philippines, Central America, Mexico and Africa, and he has today in Liberia, on the west coast of Africa, a complete organization operating a plantation and making plans to produce rubber on an extensive scale.
