You, Too, May Own a Closed Packard

MANY a man has longed all his life to own a closed Packard, and yet still drives a compromise car. Why?

He remembers the famous Packard "30" and "18" of 1910, the "38's" and "48's" of 1913, and the mighty Twin Six, America's first twelve cylinder car.

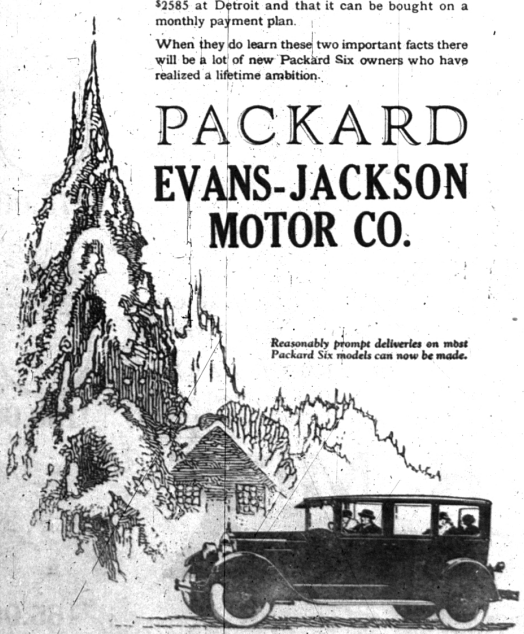

He remembers, too, that those fine cars—all of them—cost over $4,000 at the factory. And he has not yet learned that the Packard Six—a better car by today's standards than those he felt he could not afford—is priced far lower than any closed car Packard has built in 25 years.

Many do not know that the Packard Six five-passenger Sedan with all necessary accessories is but $2585 at Detroit and that it can be bought on a monthly payment plan.

When they do learn these two important facts there will be a lot of new Packard Six owners who have realized a lifetime ambition.

PACKARD EVANS-JACKSON MOTOR CO.

Reasonably prompt deliveries on most Packard Six models can now be made.
