Eco City News

To Organize Eco P. T. A. The most important civic affair on the subdivision this week will be the mass-meeting in the community chapel this evening when the parents meet for the purpose of organizing a Parent-Teacher Association. This new organization will be made up of parents of children who will attend the Pierce street school, when it is completed in the fall. The object of organizing at the present time is for the election and registration of the officers so that the association can be officially organized by the National association in the fall. This meeting is not only for the Eco City people but will be open to any residents living in the district where the children will attend the Pierce street school.

Father and Sons Banquet

As in the surrounding towns the men of Eco were interested during last week in the program of Father and Son week. Many of the men here were accompanied at the banquets by their sons, while some of the many from here who went to Detroit for Birmingham for the occasion was A. F. Bottrell, who, with his father, attended the banquet for fathers and sons at the First Baptist church in Detroit.

A CONTENTED MAN He owned a pretty little home, And very modern, too. The water was running hot. The ceilings azure blue. The rugs were velvety and fine. And covered polished floors. While dainty draperies adorned The windows and the doors. Two precious babies added to His home of wealth and charm. A loving wife to care for them And keep them safe from harm. Misfortune came. He sold the home And bought another one. Out through the grass and daisies grew And glorious summer sun Shines the day. Over giant trees, That cast their kindly shade His wife her bunk needs piled. His darling babies played. Few comforts there, yet at his work He saw the who's day long Contentment ev'ly filled his heart. And echoed in his song.

A Well Paying Investment AS A GENERAL RULE, the higher the expected rate of return on an investment the greater is the risk. To this rule the store lighting investment is a brilliant exception, for the risk is practically nothing, while the return is usually high enough to pay back the investment in a short time. You cannot lose on a store lighting investment. Experience has shown time and again that raising the standard of illumination infallibly results in increased business and a higher ratio of profit. Come in and talk with us about your store lighting. It will be well worth your while to do so. The Detroit Edison Co.
