What The Bank Directors

Mean To You

"The board of directors are responsible in a general way for the castre policy and administration of the bank, and the measure of its success depends upon their ability add integrity. They, are responsible for the employment of the bank's funds in loans and investments, and they determine the disposition of its earnings."

The directors of this bank are men of unquestioned ability and character. They have made a success of their private undertakings, or are better, qualified to invest funds intrusted to their care. They represent the leading lines of business in this community, and in that way the bank is kept in touch with the financial situation of the country.

You may feel secure in depositing your funds in this strong bank.
