in one act. James E. Baird, Rome C.
Spinning, George M. Drexley, Mrs.
Drexley, and Mrs. Fred D. Barker,

This year, the Players have added to their equipment a set of green repertures, and a number of lighting fixtures. This equipment is partly at the disposal of the community house.

The problem is solved in a gripping climax skillfully prepared by the playwright in scenes that fairly seethe with the conflict of passions and aspirations. Never before has the emotional power for which Miss Cowi has long been celebrated been exposed to such signal advantage as in the heroine's struggle to achieve an ideal. It is a role in which the star's beauty and command of sympathetic portrayal are favored to an extraordinary degree.

BONSTELLE COMPANY PRESENT "THE BEST PEOPLE" NEXT WEEK

The new home of the Bonstelle Company, of which Miss Jessie Bonstelle is the moving spirit, is now an established fact and the Bonstelle Company is firmly established at the Bonstelle Playhouse, on Woodward avenue.

For her opening bill in Detroit Miss Bonstelle secured by special arrangement with the Chase Frothingham the smart New York success, "The Best People," which is now being played in Boston and eastern cities.
It was adapted from a story by David Gray, by the author therefore and chief writer of the bright satire, "The Hopwood." The latter stands alone as a builder of plot, dialogue and clever situations, but Miss Bonstelle peer in making rapid thrusts at so-called polite society.

The Bonstelle Playhouse stands forth as Detroit's latest and most beautiful theater. The architect E.
Howard Crane, has been particularly fortunate, not alone in design, but in catch that intangible asset—perfect acoustics. Every word uttered, besides from any corner of the theater, also each and every seat commands full view of the stage.

The Bonstelle Playhouse will fill a big niche in Detroit entertainment. It is provided with spacious checkroom, where out-of-town patrons may leave their various packages and attended the performance in comfort. Situated on Woodward Avenue, near the cross-town line, it is particularly convenient to suburban patrons.

"CAPTAIN BLOOD" AT ROYAL THEATRE FOR SIX BIG DAYS

"Captain Blood," which starts Sunday, January 11, for six days at the Royal Theatre, Royal Oak, is the most popular of Rafael Sabatini's novels.
Dr. Frank Crane, the noted writer, in reviewing the book said: "I do not hesitate to say that this is the best story I have read since 'The Count of Monte Cristo.' It is a story of historic merit and deals with the romantic life of an Irishman who becomes a pirate after being sold as a slave in the Barbadoes."

Sabatini has written one of the day's best sellers, many of which have been made into great photodramas.
Among his most recent works are:
"Scaramouche," "The Sea Hawk,"
"Mistress Widdling" and "Bradley's Magnificent."

Basketballers Are Working Hard Here

mons and Bell.

Pontiac that night and the girls' team, getting both boys' teams ready and Miss Kriekard is coaching the girls.

The second team is not definitely lined up, according to the last report.

The girls' team will be as follows:
center, Avis Grayling; forward, Margaret Rawley, Alta Clark and Ames Raines; running erler, Kathleen Mijler and Helen Reed; Guards, Marian Reed, Winifred Hack, Margaret Ross the remainder of the season will be Mr. Vandemere, a resident of Birmingham, who teaches in the Detroit schools.
