EXCHANGITES LOSE GOLF TO ROTARIANS

Local Noonday Clubs Engage In Second Golf Contest Wednesday

MOSES IS STAR OF DAY

Although it is not officially known whether or not they will contest the "booby prize" cup which is never given by the National Golf Association, it is believed that the Birmingham Exchange Club stands a good chance of winning the flexible rubber trophy should they send in the score acquired Wednesday afternoon when they lost a golf match to the local Rotary Club at Oakland Hills. By the same token, the Rotarians ought to receive—free of charge—the asbestos golf ball for their beautiful (?) score of the day.

It required a total of 911 strokes for the eight Exchangers to get around the 18 hole course; the Rotarians came through with 889 strokes, 22 less than their rivals. The course rates a par 72.

Starting in at one o'clock, the 16 members of both noonday clubs bravely faced the 18 holes that stretched between them and the evening meal, before they had concluded they were drenched to the skin—for old J. P. Myers opened up his water sprout and hurled down upon the rotaries systems of the golfers several barrels of water. But they played on, nevertheless—oh, how they played!

Thus did the Birmingham Rotary Club complete its second defeat in a golf match with the Exchangers. A. L. (Jack) Moses, Rotarian, repeated his last year's good work by coming in with the low score of 87; he was closely followed by Harry Thompson, Exchanger, with 91; Fred Crawford brought "dishonor" to the Rotary team by making the greatest score of 135, while James F. Woodhouse of the Exchange team, made it in 132. "Following is the result of the contest:

Rotary Club—T. W. Miner, 106; W. M. Story, 108; Louis Hascall, 102; A. W. Wasey, 104; E. C. Houston, 110; R. D. Lynd, 120; A. L. Moses, 87; F. G. Crawford, 135—Total 889.
Exchange Club—J. P. Woodhouse, 132; H. S. Starr, 118; R. C. Moulthrop, 119; John Lawson, 97; E. W. Osherson, 127; R. Y. Moore, 105; P. Wooster, 122; H. Thompson, 91—Total 911.

Chevrolet Offers Real Auto Service

By R. H. Grant, General Sales Manager, Chevrolet Motor Company.

A great deal has been said regarding proper service on automobiles to owners. As a result of the many articles that have been written on this subject, there has been a constant improvement in the automobile service. However, "Exchangers speak louder than words," in its Chevrolet Motor company, in its attempt to get rapid action towards the betterment of service, decided not only to do more, but to spend money in assisting dealers by practical work on how they could actually get better service to their customers.

In order to do this, a year ago last August the Chevrolet Motor Company planned a campaign with its dealer organization and service stations. In each Chevrolet sales territory, whose primary duty was to go into every Chevrolet dealer's shop, to make a complete check-up on the equipment and personnel along lines that would actually give the type of service that every automobile owner desires. To accomplish this with our large dealer organization, consisting of approximately 1,000 dealers, it was necessary to train a special service promotion representative and an assistant in each Chevrolet sales territory, whose primary duty was to go into every Chevrolet dealer's shop, to make a complete check-up on the equipment and personnel along lines that would actually give the type of service that every automobile owner desires.

The schedule of work to be done by the service promotion representative covers the arrangement of the shop, so that the work benches and tool equipment will be properly placed for efficient service and maximum service space for the handling of the largest number of cars possible without congestion; the installation of special tools, which will enable the service station to render fast and efficient repair work at the lowest cost; arranging the stockroom and setting up the proper supply of service parts, establishing a file system of repairs, so that the car owner will know exactly how much any particular repair job is going to cost him.

Another very important duty of the Chevrolet service promotion representative is to train the service men in the dealer's organization not only in the proper use of the special tool equipment and in the handling of the repair work, but also in the manner in which they should contact with the car owner.

A record is kept of the activities of the Chevrolet service promotion representatives, so that when these men once start working on a dealer's service station, there is no delay in release on the work until the record indicates that everything has been taken care of. In fact, no shop has been completed 100 per cent. It is the expectation, from what has been heard, that the Chevrolet service promotion representative in a position to give quick service to its customers, quite regardless of the time of day, and to insure satisfactory repair work to the car owner.
