Society Is Fairly Active This Week

Despite the cooler weather that has discouraged to plans for the customary outings that normally mark the beginning of the holiday that it brings, the week has developed a crowded social calendar that gives evidence that society will survive over this week-end.

A great number of socially important events are being held during the week-end. The annual word-of-mouth sale of the final tickets, deeking the entire Birmingham area, is being held on Saturday, June 23, at the Reginald Hotel.

At the convention of the National Woman's Party is several days in progress at the Reginald Hotel. The party is beginning to arrive for the party in the Hills. Miss Lucy Branham and Miss Margaret G. McLaughlin have arrived, motoring through from the north.

Starting a charming program that will carry the country club members of the Birmingham Country Club to meet next Wednesday at the lovely country club of the Birmingham Country Club.

Arriving at the Reginald Hotel, California, on Saturday, Miss Frances Hammond is the guest of Mrs. A. G. Moore at her home on Harmon.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Kludt, of Detroit, opened their attractive summer place on Northdown Drive this week where they will remain for the summer, to be close to the clubs.

Hills Folk Go East To See Graduates

Customary festivities in connection with graduation at the various schools and colleges over the country mark the beginning of the holiday that it brings, the week has developed a crowded social calendar that gives evidence that society will survive over this week-end.

Mr. Frederick J. Robinson, of Lone Pine Road, accompanied by Miss Katherine Bromley and Mrs. Broadie, is having this week-end for New York to attend festivities at Miss Bennett's School.
