Hugh Jennings' Own Story of 34 Years in Baseball

HUGH JENNINGS has been active in baseball for 34 years. He has been manager and player. He has developed some of the greatest players of all time. He has been three times manager of a pennant winning team. He is the only man in the game who has observed carefully the leading players in both the American and National Leagues. He it was who developed Ty Cobb from a self-conscious youth to the most remarkable exponent of base ball in the world.

Hugh Jennings started in life as a mine boy. His career is not only interesting to lovers of the great American sport but to every man who enjoys reading of conquest and achievement. Hugh Jennings' biography is a fascinating tale. It tells of his struggles to obtain an education, of his efforts to win his father over to baseball, of the early sand lot victories in Pennsylvania and of his later conquests with the Baltimore Orioles, Louisville, Brooklyn, Philadelphia and Detroit.

You will read in this series the inside stories of pennant races and some unpublished baseball history that has never before been disclosed. Once started you will wait for each subsequent instalment with increasing eagerness for this is a story of a fascinating game by the most fascinating character it has produced.

GOOD BALDWIN THEATRE
"ATTRACTONS-NEXT WEEK"

An excellent bill of feature motion pictures and vaudeville has been booked for the Baldwin Theatre for the last three days this week.

The feature picture "The Unholy Three" starring Lon Chaney is without doubt the season's most dramatic and thrilling photoplay. It tells a tale of the underworld that is amazing in the extreme and places Chaney on a still higher plane than ever before as his acting and characterization in this production is unsurpassed. The vaudeville portion of the program has also been selected with care and is sure to please all who see it.

The performance runs continuous on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 28th, with a special matinee on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 p. m.

Gladys Hulet and Owen Moore are co-starring in "Go Straight" which will be shown on Sunday only, 29th.

Elinor Glyn's romantic novel in film form "Man and Maid" is the main feature attraction on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 30th, Dec. 1-2, while the last three days of the week will be taken up with the presentation of Thomas Meighan's latest production, "The Man Who Found Himself." Vaudeville will be presented in connection with all these feature motion pictures.

"THE GORILLA" RUNS TO THIRTEEN WEEK AT GARRICK

"The Gorilla," one of the few big theatre successes of the year, has caught on in Detroit like a prairie fire, and is taxing the Garrick to its capacity at every performance. It makes a target of the so-called mystery play, and the shake-up of fun that proceeds from tapping with mocking spirit this well-rigged, sensational greenback.

The two swaying characters of the laughing idea are played deftly and who wave in and out the roaring sees with an effect of humor that will tickle memory long after the evening's enjoyment.

That becomes of the serious plot and substance of the mystery plot when and after Mr. Mulligan and Mr. Garrity enter the mixup nobody knows and nobody cares, because they keep the pot boiling with fun, prancing laughter more unusual and hearty than one finds in many seasons of theatregoing.

To try and give a reason for this "Thrill Ride" would be shooting at the moon. Spontaneous laughs are not close enough to the general run of life for one to send chemist and try to find out the secret cause. "The Gorilla" is a sharp and well gauged satire on human guillibility, the work of Ralph Spence, a breed-in-the-bone newspaper man of ideas, birth and schooling and who knows his subject, and Don Gallaher, the producer, who started with Charles Frohm in the day of his famous Empire Theatre Stock Company, and has been a conspicuous figure ever since. It was he who produced the amusing comedy "Is Zat So?" and is part owner of its new show. These two successes in our particular days tell the story of his keeping step with popular opinion.

If you want to know the wrinkles of a tired, bored and red-blooded laughter by enjoying and listening to the crowds that gather nightly at the Garrick, the opportunity is now present and "The Gorilla" with Mr. Mulligan and Mr. Garrity will be an excellent company, will be your guarantee. Matinee Wednesday and Saturday.

AT B. F. KEITH'S TEMPLE THEATRE, DETROIT, MICH.

Music Dressler, star of triumphant musical comedies, and one of the most popular entertainers of the stage, will appear in the bill at B. F. Keith's Temple Theatre starting Sunday afternoon. Music Dressler last visited Detroit several seasons ago, but she needs no introduction to the Detroiters, as she is a great local favorite. Her routine includes the so-called "musical comedy" and the "musical play" which she plays with a light touch and a sense of humor. Her songs are: "The Girl in the Blue", "The Girl in the Green", "The Girl in the Red", "The Girl in the Yellow", "The Girl in the Purple", "The Girl in the Pink", "The Girl in the White", "The Girl in the Black", "The Girl in the Blue", "The Girl in the Green", "The Girl in the Red", "The Girl in the Yellow", "The Girl in the Purple", "The Girl in the Pink", "The Girl in the White", "The Girl in the Black".
