Local Exchanges Trim Farmington In Golf Last Wednesday

The Farmington and Birmingham Exchange Clubs put their skill against each other in a golf contest at the Birmingham Golf Club last Wednesday afternoon, September 9. Though the Farmington Club was the challenger and, therefore, it would seem confident of its success in the game, the Birmingham Exchanges came out ahead with a score of 840. Each side was composed of a ten-man team, the outcome of the match to be determined by the total of the eight lowest scores of each side. The trials and triumphs of the afternoon afforded an abundant source of conversation at the dinner which followed at the clubhouse and served to whet the anticipation of the return match to be played on Wednesday, September 23, at the Aviation Club at Green Lake. Those on the teams were: Farmington—Dr. Frank Weaver, Dr. Ashenbrenner, Phil Russell, Arthur Warner, C. W. Bickins, Mr. Clark, Edgar Pierce, Howe Warner, Birmingham—C. Lawson, R. Evans, R. C. Moulthrop, E. W. Osborne, R. V. Moore, R. W. Bricker, B. Woodley, L. Hassall, H. Starr, W. M. Pratt.

COUNTY BUILDINGS ARE RISING VERY RAPIDLY

ed all building except the proposed tuberculosis hospital," said Mr. Brewer. "The tubercular hospital, and the county infirmary are proceeding long in fine shape. When these two buildings are completed and furnished Oakland county will need no aid from the state. One fine feature of the contagious disease hospital is that visiting relatives may peer through a plate glass window and exchange greetings with one of their family who may be confined. In the infirmary we have provided a number of large rooms where old couples may spend their days together." Mr. Brewer said that nothing had been started on actual construction of the tuberculosis hospital to date; this project will be placed on 80 acres of land recently purchased in Waterford township. It will be well under way next spring.

All the money to carry on this building program was raised through the county one mill tax; it enables the county to "pay as you go" without the issuance of bonds and heavy interest carrying charges.

ed with his purchases and stood by, running his fingers through his beard. Seeing our attention attracted by some noises issuing from a box at the old woman's side, he said laughingly, "We have some babies with us," and pulled out two doves. These, it seemed, were all that remained of the livestock with which they had started.

Receive Contributions
A man came up and laid a quarter in the woman's lap. She took a large handkerchief from her coat, unknotted it, and disclosed a pile of pennies, dimes and quarters which, she proudly said, had been given them along the way, and "they hadn't asked for no help since they started." Her weather-beaten face, creased with hundreds of wrinkles, crinkled still more as she made this boast, and her bright blue eyes under their half-lidded lids glanced naively and for commendation.

They refused to disclose their names, and she had been content with the fact that she had lived in Detroit 45 years, then moved to Grand Rapids where she remained until her "man" died this summer. The call of the city where so many of her years had been spent proved so strong for resistance and her son, a wanderer on the face of the earth who claimed no place for his home, was helping his mother make a last painful pilgrimage to the spot where she wished to live out her days.

The woman moved restlessly, her son lifted the bars, and with a cheerful "goodby" started on the last lap of the tedious journey. "We wondered as we saw the wheels veering from place to place whether the couple's indomitable endurance would not be tested still further before they reached their final destination."

group of local people provides that any moneys necessary for services such as an assistant to the Merrill-Palmer school, cook, janitor or expenses arising aside from the $15000 initial expenditure will be borne either by the Merrill-Palmer school or private subscription. MRS. J. F. POPE WINS PARK NAME CONTEST, SUGGESTS NAME OF "SUNSET PARK"

were considered an admirable name and only gave place to the winner because of a meaning and pronunciation which it was felt would be a trifle more obscure to most people. "Lincoln Park" was the choice of six of the competitors and "Lincoln Field" of another, which seemed to indicate that it would be the popular choice, but it was decided that the winning name was a little more distinctive and would not be duplicated so many times.

We were gratified at the number of clever names submitted and the appreciation of the beautiful indicated by the letters hodes well for the future of Birmingham's parks. The Eccentric is to be congratulated upon this novel scheme of calling attention to a village attraction which benefits the village residents in proportion to the interest shown in its use and improvement.

Respectfully,
IVA MARLOTTE,
HAZEL H. LAWLER,
DAVID H. LADY,
WILLIAM G. OLSEN.
