1926 BALDWIN HIGH SCHOOL SENIOR WASHINGTON GROUP

Meyer and Arlington Cemetery. At the last named place we saw the old Lee Mansion and the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. Then we motored back to Washington through the cherry blossoms.
"Monday morning we visited the Bureau of Printing and Engraving and the Washington Monument, and in the afternoon we took the trolley to Alexandria," continued Mr. Tothacker, "where we visited Chris Church and Washington's old Masonic lodge of which he was Worshipful Master. From there we went on to Mount Vernon. A very distant relative of Washington, his 87th cousin, or something like that, and named Washington was one of the keepers. I had special permission to enter the tomb and place a wreath on the marble sarcophagus. When I came out, the group waiting outside saw his home which has a beautiful setting, his coach and wine cellar. The attitude of the sightseers at Mount Vernon was commendable. There was no loud talking or merry making, but rather reverence and humility."
We returned by boat on the Potomac and in the evening visited the beautiful Library of Congress and saw the original drafts of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution. The next morning we were up early and went to the National Museum and Free Art Gallery. After luncheon we went to the Corcoran Gallery and did some shopping. That night we had a birthday party for Margaret Ross and Helen Reed and the cake which Mrs. Ross provided was an important part of the festivities.
"Through the courtesy of Grant Hudson, our representative, we were permitted to see all parts of the White House on Wednesday, though we didn't see Coolidge during our entire stay in Washington, as he was not meeting the general public on account of the death of his father. The next points of interest were the Lincoln Memorial and the Pan-American Building, which is sort of American in every detail. The South American Journalists were holding their congress there at the time and it was hard to believe that we were in our own country standing in the midst of a Spanish speaking throng before a typically South American building.
"Debates in both Houses of Congress and a trial in the Supreme Court proved almost too fascinating to resist," said Mr. Tothacker, "and the sightseers would like to have spent all Wednesday afternoon listening. Finally we did go down under the Capitol and saw the tomb that was to receive Washington if the authorities at Mount Vernon would ever consent to relinquish his body. That evening part of the group attended 'Blossom Time at Polli Theatre and the others saw 'Three Live Ghosts.'
"On Thursday we went to Baltimore where we took buses for the 20 mile ride to Gettysburg. On our return to Baltimore we boarded a boat for an all night ride down Chesapeake Bay. After dinner, at the special request of the manager of the boat line, we gave our minstrel show for the benefit of the passengers. At 5:30 a. m. we got off at Old Point Comfort and guides took us through the trip and were entertained for luncheon by the faculty of William and Mary College. That afternoon we went to Richmond and took the train for home.
"We woke up Saturday morning in the Blue Ridge Mountains, 2000 feet above sea level, and in the midst of amazingly beautiful scenery. That night we entered Cincinnati and had dinner in a private dining room in the Grand Hotel after which some took a walk and some stayed to dance. There the group made itself a permanent organization for two purposes: the first was to further the interests of any future Washington groups to be formed in the high school, and the second was to promote the social interests of the present group and provide for future trips. Sunday morning we reached Detroit.
"Not the least of the contributing factors to the pleasantness of our trip," said Mr. Tothacker, "was the generosity of the people at home, Mulholland's Department Store, and Shain's Drug Store each supplied everyone in the group with a box of candy, while the Junior and Sophomore Washington groups contributed an abundance of fruit. Mr. Shain also very kindly let us borrow a moving picture machine and if the numerous pictures we took turn out well we will show them at the high school. We were very courteously received everywhere we went. The excellent reputation left by the previous Washington groups paved the way for a very friendly feeling toward us. Miss Stickle and I were never worried for the time. A splendid spirit of co-operation prevailed throughout the entire trip. And last, but perhaps most important of all, was the fact that there were no mishaps and no one was ill or lost.

PROJECTS LAUNCHED TO PAVE AND GRAVEL MANY LOCAL STREETS

celled as those requiring concrete surfaces, the commission feels that curb, gutter and gravel will be sufficient to take care of them for some time to come; therefore on Bates street from Linedale avenue to Brown street, a 36-ft. highway is planned, with curb, gutter and new gravel, at a cost of $14,705.00, three-fourths to be assessed against the abutting property and one-fourth against the village. Public hearing on this is set for Monday evening, May 17, at 9:30 o'clock.

24-ft. curb, gutter and gravel surface is planned for George street, from Pierce street to Woodward avenue, at a cost of $14,705.00, one-fourth against the village and three-fourths against the property. Public hearing set for Monday evening, May 17, at 9 o'clock.

Thirty-six feet of the same kind of improvement is proposed for Townsend street, from Pierce to Southfield, at a cost of $16,574.00 on the same apportionment of cost. Pierce street. Public hearing on this Monday evening, May 17, at 9 o'clock.

Brookside drive—18 ft. wide, Ravine X, to lot 18 inclusive. Park Street—18 ft. wide, Brookside to Ravine; 24 ft. wide, Ravine to Euclid. Euclid avenue—24 ft. wide, Park to Ferndale. Ferndale avenue—24 ft. wide, Euclid to Ravine.

The total cost of these improvements is estimated at $22,214.00, one-fourth to be paid for by the village-at-large, and three-fourths by the abutting property. Monday evening, May 3, at 8 o'clock, is the date set for a public hearing on these projects.

As soon as the necessary hearings are held, and the special assessment rolls are completed, the village plans to make the improvements on all the above projects as soon as possible thereafter, so that all street improvement work may be completed by early fall.

Mrs. Leigh Lynch returned to her home on Dorchester road Sunday night from Bryan, O., where she made a short visit with her mother, Mrs. C. C. Binns. The Sans Souci Bridge Club will hold the next meeting at the home of Mrs. C. V. Henstree on Brown street next Thursday afternoon.
