HOGS AND HICCUGHS
Did you ever hear of a pig getting the hiccoughs? The you'll be interested in learning what George Scott, local garbage collector, told the Birmingham commission a few days ago. "The best way I am able to dispose of Birmingham's garbage is to feed it to the hogs," said Mr. Scott. "Sometimes this is done—just as it is with the $500,000 worth of valuable hogs that took the hiccoughs and then died." Mr. Scott does not sure whether it was the general run of garbage or just some peculiar case that was responsible for the hiccoughs.

250 Farmers Attend Farm Bureau Banquet

One of the most delightful events in the history of the Oakland County Farm Bureau was held at the Central M. E. Church Pontiac, Monday, April 12, when 250 of the most prominent farmers from twenty-one townships in the county sat down to a banquet together.

The occasion was a get-together meeting preliminary to a drive, which is being put on in the state for new members and the renewal of old ones in thirty counties of which Oakland is one.
Oakland County has the distinction of being the first county in the state to organize as a member of the present Farm Bureau, six years ago, and many farmers have been members continuously and have expressed their willingness to join again and aid in the campaign. B. A. Holden of Milford, who was manager of the first campaign is also manager of the present campaign in Oakland County. The banquet was nicely served by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Central M. E. Church after which Percy King, president of Oakland County Farm Bureau, with a few appropriate remarks called the meeting to order and Rev. Wren Crossland, pastor of Central M. E. Church gave the invocation. President King next introduced Cranmer Smith, president of Pontiac Commercial & Savings Bank, as toastmaster. Mr. Smith kept the meeting in line humor and having been brought up on a farm, he knew the farmer's problems, which added materially to the meeting.
Mayor Chas. L. Rockwell gave the welcome and, having been a dirt farmer, his short, tall was fine and well received.
Greetings were given by Harry O. Whitfield who is president of the Pontiac Board of Commerce and member of a famous family of farmers and in the short time allotted him left some fine thoughts to be carried home by the people.
Clark L. Brody, sec-manager of Mich. State Farm Bureau, in his sincere and clear way, outlined the different departments of the State Farm Bureau and their workings, after which Mrs. Frank Kinch from Grindstone City was introduced and gave an address.
As a city girl and school teacher, teaching a district school, several years ago she married a farmer and has lived on the farm, because, as she says, "I love the farm." Mr. and Mrs. Kinch have a very enviable record on sheep raising, having the best flock of sheep in Huron County but better than this, they have raised eight daughters, and Mrs. Kinch says the best place in the world to raise children is on the farm.

The main address was given by Lucius Wilson, of the General Organization Company of Chicago, and directing the membership campaign of thirty Michigan counties.
Mr. Wilson is nationally known, speaking before large audiences in the United States and not too much can be said of the mastery with he handled the subject of "Giving Service" and it seemed to be the consensus of opinion that it had been a treat to be privileged to hear him.
Miss Muriel Dundas, County Home Demonstration Agent, was song leader and very capably arranged songs throughout the program.
Fritz Stoddard gave a solo and some splendid readings which were very entertaining and were well received.
Those present felt well repaid for attending, for it was a high class program and hoped more would be held in the future.

About 130,000,000 pounds of American sardines were packed during the year 1925.

Holland scientists have found a way to remove the shell from an egg being hatched in an incubator, so as to check the development of the embryo.
When Ankeni Johnson was arrested in Regina, Canada, for vagrancy, he had on eleven shirts and three pairs of trousers.
Acting on a tip, detectives guarded a Camden, N. J., bank all night, but five minutes after they went off duty the robbers broke in and stole $4,000.
By decision of a Paris court, a husband was justified in beating his wife because she bobbed her hair against his wishes.
John W. Murrell of Monmouth, Wales, left an estate worth $45,000 to his wife, with a provision that she will forfeit it if she marries again.
Miss Joan Wright of Dover, Eng., was fined $150 for smuggling $150 for insolence to customs officers and $150 for lying to the court.

When Miss Flora Agnew of Chicago was tried for disorderly conduct, Mrs. J. C. Clayton testified that Flora's language was as "thick as the paint on her face."
Mrs. Elizabeth Martin of Chicago told a judge that the only work her husband has done in four years was to take his dog out for a walk.
Finding the church to which he had been assigned in a filthy condition, Rev. William White of London scrubbed it before preaching his first sermon.
