THREE OFFICIAL STATEMENTS OPPOSE RECALL OF VILLAGE PRESIDENT

(Continued from Page 1, Part 1) All the officials of the village, some five or more in number, to keep them from preventing him from making this private profit regardless of the rights or wishes of the neighborhood. The court granted this injunction.

Let us examine these charges. One cannot be convicted without a proven record of a specific crime and then having this accusation confirmed by the court. From the facts above, it will be seen that Mr. Shain personally was never accused of anything and that such accusation was not confirmed by the court. The officials of the village as a body, in trying to carry out the wishes of the residents of the village, were stopped by the court. The village officials, as a body, were not convicted of anything and were not personally charged. No one was convicted of anything.

Why They Declined

The village commission, in order to protect surrounding property, declined to issue these pending results of the application for election, and all of the village officials refused to sign the petition. The village commission, in order to protect surrounding property, declined to issue these pending results of the application for election, and all of the village officials refused to sign the petition.

Reckless expenditure of money by any one man could there be. The expenditure was made by the village of Birmingham through its duly appointed officials and was required by law. On the other hand, McCallum, who makes the specific accusation of "reckless expenditure of money," in fact, forced the village to expend $600 or $700 for a special election, and it is the recall should carry to a further expenditure within the following 30 days $25,000 in the case of a new man.

Recall of Village President

Unless glaring abuses are performed, public officials should be protected from open attacks in their term of office. Of course I shall vote NO.
