Looking Forward
Believing that the early bird gets the worm a man inserted the following advertisement in the Cincinnati Enquirer: Electrical Men—Will you need an engineer in a few years? I have been studying electrical engineering at night and will finish in two years.
Working for Themselves
Less than ten million of our 113,400,000 men, women and children are working for themselves. The development of the corporation, taking the place of the one-man business, is given as the cause for the decrease in the number of people who work for themselves.—Thrift Magazine.
