

Greater Oakland Makes Public Bow This Week

The Greater Oakland Six, introduced throughout the country this week embodies 77 important refinements, featured by smart new Fisher bodies in new and striking two-tone Duco finish, engine developments of a vital nature, and the Hubbert Silenced Chassis, an advanced Oakland engineering achievement ranking with the Harmonic Balancer, which was introduced to the industry last year on Oakland cars.

lates the transmission. Noises, which, without it, are telegraphed up through the drive shaft are now entirely absorbed. The forward end of the shaft is cushioned to produce an absolutely noiseless drive. Although the new bodies by Fisher are characteristically Oakland, they have been refined to present an even more pleasing symmetry of line and contour. The one-piece metal back panel on the closed bodies curves gracefully upward to the roof, radiating in a modish appearance that harmonizes with the custom-built effect of the new, heavy full crown fenders, wider and thicker running boards and new side shields. All cars have double heading and are finished in two-tone Duco.

Landau Sedan, Landau Coupe and Sport Roadster. Among the general improvements and refinements on the exterior and interior of the car, aside from the body line changes are the new, double filament, depressible-beam headlights which are so designed that the driver can depress the beam to a point which eliminates all glare to the approaching driver's eyes without reducing the light intensity. A unique feature of these new headlights is the foot control located on the floor board at the left of the clutch pedal which enables the driver to keep his hands on the driving wheel at all times. By pressing on the foot control he may depress the lights and with the same foot pressure raise them again to driving position.

New large hub caps enhance the appearance of the wheels, while the new crown fenders, of heavy metal and unbroken line, and new, deeper and heavier running boards are all designed to give the low-slung appearance of the most costly cars. The new bindings for the running boards are assembled without screws, while new side shields on running board add a touch of beauty to the fender design. Added touches to the niceties of interior equipment includes a walnut finish gear shift lever ball, walnut finish horn button, new throttle control on the steering wheel and special new Oakland hardware of distinctive design. The new one-piece headlight and fender tip-rod has been re-inforced for a more rigid support of headlamps and front fenders. A new, large motor driven horn enables the driver to sound more positive warning. A smoking set is standard equipment on the boards as assembled without screws, while new side shields on running board add a touch of beauty to the fender design.

fitting snugly over it when lowered. Windshield wings of plate glass, nickel plated front bumpers and rear fenders, rear view mirror, windshield cleaner, side view mirror, steering wheel and nickel plated headlights are added features of refinement on both these cars. Nickel plated headlights are also standard on the Landau Sedan. Gasoline gauges on the dash is standard equipment on the Landau Sedan and Roadster. These types, together with the Phaeton, are also fitted with special, artistic radiator caps.

All the closed cars have the following equipment: Fisher VV one-piece windshield, windshield cleaner, regulator on all side windows, slider, dome light, nickel plated door handles, cowl lights, door locks, rear view mirror and luxury type cushion springs.

Doctor to little boy who is ill: "You will have to go to the hospital, Sonny."

Little Boy: "I don't want to go to the hospital."

Doctor: "Oh, yes you do. It is so nice and clean there and everything is so handy."

Little Boy: "But I don't want to go to the hospital, for I don't want a baby; I want a puppy!"

A man met a little Miss about five years of age who was enjoying a double ended all-day sucker.

Thinking to tease her a little he asked: "Can't I have some of that?"

She hesitated just a moment and then said: "You can get on the other end."
