

WE HEARD IT SAID BY—

(Little Editorials picked up by the Staff in and around Birmingham)

Rip Van Winkle, athletic director, Birmingham schools: "Many are already talking of the Thanksgiving Day game between Birmingham and her old time rival, Royal Oak. From all early indications this should be a closely contested game as neither team today seems to be a great deal ahead of the other."

Fay Phillips Frazer, executive secretary of Girl's work for the Y. W. C. A., Detroit: "I think that Birmingham Girl Reserves are particularly fortunate in having such a meeting place as the Community House. There's such a homely atmosphere about it. The girls can feel more friendly and intimate in such a setting."

Miss Mary Clark Griffith, hostess of Community House: "My thanks were tendered to the wrong company in last week's paper. It is the Ace Window Cleaning Company instead of the Ace which has offered to keep the Community House windows clean this year."

Isaac Linton, St. George-Brant Co.: "I see Birmingham is growing nicely. I read the program from week to week with pleasure. You are going to have a widened Woodward and a theater and new civic buildings. Truly Birmingham is getting there."

E. J. Lederer, county commissioner of schools: "I feel there is a need for a sane, sensible and practical program of health supervision for the pupils in the outlying districts of Oakland County?"

FOLKSBY ITEMS

P. G. COX, Itemizer
A new enterprise has been started in Folksberg. Felix Cobb and Grover Morgan have gone in partners, and will deal exclusively in second-hand things. They've rented the old tin shop, and will put up a sign as soon as they can agree on whose name ought to come first.

Ell Howard, who is becoming well worked up over the political campaign, was considerably shocked when he got up the other morning. Somebody had stuck a lot of big pictures of candidates of the other party all over the front of his house. He didn't have time to put on his shoes until he tore down the pictures and carried them over on Jeff Patton's yard. He's confident Jeff is the one who did the decorating.

The Woman's Discussion Club was scheduled to hold its weekly meeting yesterday at the home of Mrs. Annan Bell. But the new sofa which she wanted the members to see, hadn't been received. So she thought up a quick excuse and got the meeting postponed until Friday. By which time she hopes the sofa will be here.

Jason Crab thinks he's found where the sidewalk that was built past his house about five years ago is not what it ought to be. He's put in two or three days down on his knees measuring, and he claims the walk lacks nearly an inch in places. He means to register a complaint when the Town Board meets again.

Wesley Mills missed getting his paper last Sunday, and it grieved him quite a bit. He watched around at the Grand Hotel most of the day, but there wasn't a single paper left in any of the chairs. He says it happened two or three times this year and looks like people are getting so you can't depend on them at all.

Tweed Is Popular for Tailored Suits

Crowded by simple two-piece tailored dresses and coat frocks the tailored suit occupies less of fashion's horizon than it merits. But any assembly of smart women in street clothes will disclose a certain per cent of them wearing the trim and efficient tailored suit. The limit of simplicity is reached in the model shown here which is suited to tweed, twill or the fancy weaves in wools.

for some seasons that were supposed to teach him how to play a tune in an hour. But he's followed the directions for a good deal over an hour now, and he's not produced anything that can be recognized.

After close figuring for several weeks, Chris Davis got his finances worked up to a point where he paid his fall taxes and bought his winter's coal all in one day last Friday. He felt so relieved that he circulated around some telling everybody that he was rid of his heavy expenses for a while. But when he went to the postoffice for his mail, he got a letter from his daughter, Dora, up at the State University, saying she'd have to have $50.00 more in a hurry on account of the tuition had been raised. After which Chris' wunny home tolerably silent.

Congressman Whipple of our district will make a political speech in Folksberg next Thursday night. Ell Howard is taking a leading part in spreading the news by tacking up big pictures of Mr. Whipple in various places. Ell is tolerably aggravated because he thinks Jeff Patton has torn down some of the pictures, and he'd like to accuse Jeff until they're not on speaking terms during the campaign.
