

THE OTHER CHAP SAYS SOMETHING

HOW A CITY MAY GROW? Detroit, Mich., furnishes a striking example of what industry, properly encouraged, can do for a city in the way of growth and prosperity.

Fortunes have been made in Detroit real estate in the last few years, and Detroit has never had a speculative boom. Her growth and prosperity are based on the solid and lasting foundation of industrial payrolls.

It might be interesting to review a few facts in connection with the growth of this remarkable city which outdistanced practically all competitors in spite of the fact that it had no tropical climate nor ocean beaches to sell to the country.

In the last 20 years Detroit's population has increased from 148,000 or 1,461,437 in Greater Detroit, as the metropolitan district is called, to 440,000, the fourth city of the United States.

Twenty years ago, when the automobile industry was in its infancy, Pittsburgh turned down the chance to make that city the center of the automotive industry.

In 1925 Detroit produced 4,328,000 automotive vehicles. This represents 67 percent of the world's total automobile output.

EVERY VOTE COUNTS The one thing that might beat Mayor Fred W. Green of Ionia, Republican nominee for governor, is the over-confidence of Michigan Republicans and their families to go to the polls on Tuesday, November 2nd.

Fred W. Green stands pledged to an administration for real service at Lansing. His friends, who know him best, know that he will keep that promise.

ON BEING EDUCATED "What," writes a student in one of Emporia's institutions of—let us say, learning, "do you think constitutes an education?"

Well, for one thing, it is not what a lot of professors claim it is. Some of the best educated men and women we ever knew never went to college.

It pays to look well WHICH reminds you that a re-decoration has taken its appearance here in the last week.

to get back to education: An education is not a lot of assorted information upon various academic subjects. An education is the blessing of the man or woman who has a mind and a heart so trained that he can look at both sides of a proposition; can accept and digest the best available information upon the subject and so can distinguish the true from the false, the real from the unreal.

drama, comedy, opera—it fills many unique demands and stands forth as one of the most artistic entertainments that will reach Detroit this season.

BALDWIN Given but five minutes to live, alone with the man who has been commissioned to kill her, a beautifully gowned Russian aristocrat looks wildly around a gorgeous room, desecrated by plundering revolutionists.

This is one of the great central situations of Cecil De Mille's production, "The Volga Boatman," as adapted by Lenore J. Coffee from Konrad Bercovici's great story of Russia in travail, which will be featured at the Belvoir theater on Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 31, Nov. 1, 2, and 3.

JOHN HAGGERTY SPENT HIS YOUTH ON FARM Detroit, Oct. 27—John S. Haggerty, Republican candidate for secretary of state at the Nov. 2 election, is one of the best known business men and financiers in Detroit.

De Mille provides pictorial views of the Volga with the huge boats drawn by human muscles and striking pictures of the contrast of wealth and poverty being the overthrown. The two strange lovers are carried through an amazing series of adventures before the story is brought to its conclusion.

De Mille has chosen a strong and striking cast to interpret the tale. Featured are William Boyd, Elinor Fair, Victor Vareoni, Julia Faye, Theodore Kosloff and Robert Edson in connection with this picture a beautiful prologue will be presented, with a symphony orchestra.
