PORTUGUESE HAVE TREES TELL STORY

Quote Virtues As Measure For Self-Protection Against Careless Nature Killers.

The Portuguese make their park trees to speak through an inscription which is quoted below:
"Ye who pass by and would raise your hand against me, hearken ere you harm me.
I am the heat of the hearth on cold winter nights, the friendly shade screening you from the summer sun, and my fruits refreshing draughts quenching your thirst as you journey on.
I am the beam that holds your house, the board of your table, the bed on which you lie, and the timber that builds your boat.
I am the handle of your hoe, the door of your homestead, the roof of your cradle, and the shell of your coffin.
I am the bread of kindness and the flower of beauty.
Ye, who pass by, listen to my prayer, harm me not.
Applicable to a tree—how much more to a forest!
