Mr. and Mrs. Milton Coulson, of Madison avenue, were hosts at a delightful dinner party last Thursday night at their home. The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Couzens, of Detroit, and their houseguest, Miss Esther Lang Couzens, of Oak, Ont., and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hickey, of Grosse Pointe.

The Rev. Calvin M. Thompson, of Ferndale avenue, pastor of the Southfield Methodist Episcopal Church, spent the week-end in Romeo. He returned last Thursday night from almost two weeks spent in Saginaw and Fenton, leaving Friday for Romeo, whence he returned Sunday. While he was in Fenton, which is a former parish of his, he preached from the pulpit which for some time he had filled.

CARELESS EFFECTS STUDIED

To acquire chic lady's chapeau must have an elaborately careless effect. But it is not a careless carelessness. It's studied. The small, soft, crushable type of hat family achieves this air and is popular because of its utility. Nos. 1, 3 and 5 above are Ames models. No. 1 is a Yale blue tulle with coronet of bias folds of harmonizing Canton and Gobelin blue velvet folded and crossed and stitched into flat folds in the back. No. 3 uses a crossbar incrustation of Satine velvet on pale rose. No. 5 is a tailored cloche in claret red velvet with a panel of raspberry. Rebois modeled No. 2 of rose tinted, puffy colored suede skin with a tricky boy in the back. No. 4 displays a checkerboard design of brown and beige grosgrain ribbon on a brimless dark beige velvet from Alex.

I must mention again the ever-popular Vionnet blouse, which seems to be here to stay. This practical model is now seen, not only as a regulation long-sleeved overblouse, but also can be bought with short sleeves, sleeveless entirely, and as a vest, the designers rigidly considering it the most becoming of necklines.

Purple tones, from the light orchid or wistaria down to the deep pansy shades, are often seen again. And they are equally smart for either the older matron or the young debutante.

There are no buttons on the gloves any more. The slip-on patterns predominate even for formal wear, but the heavy wash leathers are used for sport coverings.

OKLAHOMA MEN STUDY HOME ARTS

If a man wants to be in a position to lecture his wife about household economy and give her a masterful hint how to bring up the children, he will have to study these subjects. As a result, young men in the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College are as busy budgeting as are the girls.

The courses in household economy, the fundamentals of nutrition, color and design, clothing selection and the art of hospitality were thrown open to boys with the suggestion that after all a child has two parents, and the wife should not be placed in the position of studying all about how to care for an infant and then be obliged to listen to the theories of her husband.

"It is of advantage to men to be dressed appropriately just as it is to a woman," says Miss Talbot, dean of the school. "An appreciation of color combinations in the home and landscape brings joy to both men and women. A man should derive as much pleasure from being a genial host as a woman does in being a gracious hostess."

One effective angle from which men are approached is to show them how to appraise a wife as a partner in terms of dollars and cents. It is supposed that the wife goes away for a six months' vacation and the man keeps the household for three or four children at home. The student is asked to fix a price on each task the mother and wife does for the husband has either to do it or hire it out. Thus he finds that a cook who may leave at any time or cook improperly, a maid or nurse for the children, a handmaid, waitress and perhaps, in case of illness, a trained nurse, may be needed to replace the wife.

Granting that the man's income is around $2,500 a year, he soon spends mentally more than he earns. The class discussions usually result in a more sympathetic attitude born of understanding, which is carried into the college men's new homes.

Simplicity Marks Fall School Dresses

Incredibly as it may seem, the time for school dresses is rapidly approaching again, but there is much comfort for girl students and their mothers in the fact that simplicity will be a continued note in fall and winter clothing. Rayon jersey will be a great factor in making the preparation of a school wardrobe easy. The most attractive models of jersey dresses require only the plainest sewing, for aside from the inevitable pleats which are the secret of giving modern plain garments the air of fullness, there is little that need worry the most ordinary woman's dress. Delightfully rich shades, such as burgundy, brown and grey, are available in this serviceable material.

SALLY'S SALLIES

Plainness, however, detracts nothing from the smart silhouette. To the contrary, the pleated skirts, adapting themselves to elegant, youthful motion, are studies in grace. Useful and durable materials, too, fit exactly with the fall types of school dresses, covert and kasha being very practical, especially with the new leather belts which have become so important. The simulated hider, continuing in vogue, is another device which is highly convenient in constructing a garment which only requires a different selection of material to change it from a street or school frock to a house dress. Contrasting material for facing pleats and for trimming bands on blouses and sleeves give an additional note of color.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

MENU HINT

In many families potatoes are served two or three times a day without any effort to vary the monotony. Sometimes, of course, the family prefer their potatoes to any other bland vegetable. There are substitutes, however, among them macaroni, rice, navy beans, etc. In the following menu I am using rice instead of potatoes. If you cook as per directions there will be no water to throw away and the grains will be separate and flaky.

Pineapple Salad Huckleberry Pie

TODAY'S RECIPES

Rice—Take a quart of water and heat until it is boiling briskly. Season with one teaspoon salt. In this pour three-fourths of a cup of well washed rice and keep it boiling briskly uncovered for twenty minutes or until the rice has absorbed the water. Shake it lightly and put it in the oven for a moment to dry.

Huckleberry Pie—Make a good pie crust, roll out and put in tin. Sprinkle with flour and sugar, put in the well-washed and picked-over berries sweetened with more sugar and dot with bits of butter, put on upper crust, make vent for air to escape and bake.

SUGGESTIONS

For Tiny Candles—Individual salt or nut dishes—splendid holders for tiny candles to be used on occasion when one likes to have a candle at each place or in groups on the table.

Just melt a tiny bit of the end of the candle and set it in the tin can firmly. It will make a candle holder which will also hold the melted wax as the candle burns.

Soda Water Straws

A bundle of straws, such as are used at soda fountains, are convenient and sanitary to feed liquids to the sick child. They can be burned after using and there is no danger of leakage, as with glass tubes. Children will often take nourishment through a fascinating straw when otherwise it would mean a difficult task.

For badly mildewed linens use a solution of four tablespoons peroxide to one quart of water. Use enough of the solution to cover the garment and lay gently for an hour, or until the stains are gone.

PARIS—Dressmakers combine many things with their main business of making clothes. But few dress houses are also art salons. Myrbor is one of the few in Paris to combine clothes and canvases. A recent Myrbor showing of art included works of Picasso, Dufrene, Lurcat and several other artists.
