60 ENROLLED AT CRANBROOK

New School In Hills To Accommodate 75 Boys This Year

The faculty is complete and some 60 students have been accepted today for the coming year at Cranbrook Boys' School, according to an announcement by Dr. William O. Stevens, head master at the school. All the absolutely necessary buildings will be finished by the time of opening, Sept. 19, Dr. Stevens said, and the other buildings will be ready for use within a short time afterwards.

Only 75 students will be accommodated at the school this year, Dr. Stevens said, and this number is expected to be reached before the opening. Applications are being considered now.

William H. Minor is the director of music at Cranbrook. This was the last faculty position to be filled. Mr. Minor comes from Naugatuck, Conn., where he has been supervisor of music in the schools for 34 years. He will also be organist at Christ Church, Cranbrook.

Two members of the Cranbrook staff have already arrived. Miss Margaret Fraser, the librarian and Charles Keppel, head of the science department, are on the scene of their activity for the coming year. Miss Fraser comes from the Lincoln School, in New York, where she was also librarian. Mr. Keppel comes from St. Paul's School, Garden City, where for the past 10 years, he has been head of the science department.

arch, panels, and corner panels. The new section of Lincoln avenue will be of the boulevard type, having, curbed, parkways. The street will be curbed and graveled. The parkways are planned to save many of the trees, which lie in the path of the road, according to Mr. Parry.

Grading for the street will probably start next week, Mr. Parry reports. The road will be allowed to settle throughout the winter months and will be graveled in the spring.

Water from the Rouge is kept out of the excavations made, for the abutments by sluicing it through a flume which has been built. When operations first started, a small geyser was formed, when the water main which runs across the river at that point, was broken by a steam shovel. Repairs were soon made and little delay was caused, however.
