TWO MODEL SHIPS EXHIBITED HERE

Old Ironsides and Spanish Galleon, Rare Art Works, Visit

Two full rigged ships, "Old Ironsides" and the Spanish Galleon, are on exhibition today at the Bloomfield Hills Antique Shop, or at least models of them are. These models have been fashioned by John C. Burnett, of Dearborn, out of old packing boxes and two-by-fours, and rigged with fishing line bits of clockwork, bright colored beads and squares of gaily silk.

Mr. Burnett builds these miniature ships, reconstructs old furniture and fashions wrought iron as hobbies. Some of his wrought iron works are in the Cleveland Art Museum, and other pieces are in several museums in the United States and England.

The model of the Constitution, which is one of the two on exhibition, is a "wooden wonder," as Burnett explains. "Although its keel is not weighted for actual sailing," Mr. Burnett said, "all its ropes and arms can be moved as they were moved almost 150 years ago on the real Constitution."

The smallest boats in the Constitution's rigging are one-sixteenth of an inch in diameter, and there are several scores of them in all. The rigging is made of wood with great pains, out of wood, and pierced with a tiny drill which Mr. Burnett will not allow to be used along the rail are one-eighth of an inch in diameter, and are pierced three times for the cordage.

The anchor was hammered out of aluminum by hand, and even these conform to the scale of the original ship, which is now being restored as a memorial to the spirit of the Revolutionary Days.

"There's so much work about," Mr. Burnett said, "that I decided not to put on the sails. They'd hide part of the rigging."

20 GUESTS FETED IN RED RUN CLUB HOUSE

Red Run Golf club on July 22 was the scene of a beautiful dinner in a great while he sold one of his ship models or pieces of iron, he does not bid them for sale. He builds them because he likes to.

PUBLIC NURSE ESTABLISHED

Assumes Duties In Health Department; Comes Highly Recommended

Mrs. Pauline Marson is established today in the office of Birmingham health nurse. Mrs. Marson since her appointment Monday has been working from the office of Mr. A. W. Newitt, pending arrangements being made for the health department headquarters.

Mrs. Marson is a graduate of the University of Michigan, and has been employed by the health department of Chicago and Indianapolis and as school nurse in Kenosha, Ind. Her position, Dr. Newitt said, was that of general county nurse in Marion county, Ind. Her position in the community nurse include more than five years service.

Plans for the village health department do not include a clinic such as is carried out in larger cities, said Dr. Newitt. "Our plan is to handle the duties of the department, and handling indigent cases, which will be examined by the health nurse and doctor and referred to village physicians for treatment."

"As the health department is a new organization in this community," Dr. Newitt said, "our plan for the routine and general procedure, will be experimental so as to find the plan most satisfactory for Birmingham." Tentative plans of the health nurse are being made, he said.

Prizes were given at each table, and refreshments were served. The committee, in charge included, besides Mrs. Hammond and Mrs. Higgins, who were in charge of some extra tables, Mrs. Elliott Slocum Nichols, Mrs. Harry Y. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Joseph Brown, and Mrs. Clarence Stacker. Mrs. T. R. Donovan was in charge of the ticket sales.

HAY-CUTTING A PART OF ROTARIANS WORK AT ANNUAL OUTING

More than 30 members of the Birmingham Rotary club forgot cares of business Thursday and devoted themselves to enjoying their annual outing at the summer home of S. O. Wylie Bell at Pine Lake.

Activities scheduled were purchased with great vim, the members even taking time to cut hay from a field so a baseball game could be staged. Prizes of every kind were awarded, chief of which was a bottle of liniment won by Charles Shain for being what fellow members called, the most inebriated baseball player, and a engraved loving cup won by Lawrence E. Colgrove for heading the winning ball team.

The guests took part in the swimming, water polo, quito, tug-of-war and other games which was climaxed by a steak roast under the direction of Henry Price, owner of the Chateau Tea Room. The picnic was planned by Rev. R. M. Atkins and Frank Mulholland.

DAINTY LUNCHEON DISH One can salmon, two eggs slightly beaten, two tablespoons thick, sweet cream, one-half teaspoon salt, pinch pepper, two eggs, four tablespoons cold water, sifted bread crumbs, one-half cup finely cut celery.

HOSTESS GIVES FLASH LIGHTS TO DANCERS LONDON.—Mrs. Charles Marshall, the American hostess of Grosvenor square, has introduced a novelty to London society.

During a dance she distributed flashlights to all her guests. The electric lighting system was turned off, and the ballroom then became a spectacle of tiny rays bobbing hither and thither.

Mrs. Marshall is the mother-in-law of Marshall Field of Chicago.

FORMER STUDENTS AT FRANKLIN HOLD FIRST OF ANNUAL REUNIONS

By GEORGE C. WILLIAMS Living again in the days of their youth, many of the former students of the little stone school in the German school district, Farmington Township, gathered at the school and the Oliver Irish farm home nearby Saturday, for what they planned should be a regular reunion of old acquaintances were renewed and the "good old days" discussed.

The school masters journeyed from all parts of Oakland County, many from outside the county. Many prominent men in the surrounding territory are said to have come from the German school, although many were not with the reunioners Saturday, a large number from the immediate neighborhood and other parts made the plans of the committee successful.

Started in 1839 The reunion, which was held at the school, started in 1839, derived its name from George German, who contracted to build the school which was then located on the Irish farm. The district covered a territory about the size of the present township and extending south to the half-section line of Section No. 1, and west to the line of the township and western boundaries are a mile each way from the school. The original plan was of frame construction but later it was rebuilt of stone.

The school, lying directly to the south was combined in 1849 with the original section and a site for a new school was donated by Squire Bryant.

Early teachers who were present at the gathering are Miss F. Parkhurst, Miss H. Ferris and William Kyle, who received, when he held office, the school in the German school, a salary of $1.50 a week. During the school of Mrs. A. C. White, in the neighborhood living an equal period of time at each home in the district.

Bryant Is Present Owner George Bryant now owns the farm on which the school was built, in the possession of the Bryants before. Trees covered the site of the school before it was cleared and adjacent to the school site was a large tamarack swamp. Squire Bryant was the first director and Squire Ball was the first teacher, a son of Deacon Ball, original settler of the Stoughton.

Recipe Is Given For Canning Juices This recipe for canning fruit juices is taken from the Home canning booklet issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The fruit juice may be pressed out of fruit by means of a cider press, special fruit press, or other improved press; then heated in an acid-proof kettle up to 110 degrees F. The fruit juice may then be poured into ordinary hot jars, hot bottles, or tin cans, and sealed. For canning of fruit juice, if poured into miscellaneous bottles it is suggested that the fruit juice be sterilized as follows:

Make a cotton stopper and water up the neck of the bottle, and leave during the sterilization period. Set bottles in boiling hot water up to the neck of the bottle, sterilize the fruit juice for 40 minutes at a temperature of 165 degrees F. Remove the product, press corkin top over cotton stopper immediately. If the cork fits well, no further need be used. If a poor cork, it may be necessary to dip the cork in a melted solution of wax or paraffin. Fruit juices and apple cider when flattened in this way will not "flatten in taste" and will keep fresh for future use.

DRESS DESIGNERS PUT GOLD ON GOWNS scattering gold over their fall fabrics with the same abandon with which they hope their customers will spend their money. A new woven weave in dark blue sponsored in Paris is woven with threads in a chevron pattern. A barre lace which comes in a soft tan crepe with narrow and repeated stripes of gold to give it character. Any color goes with gold and gold has to be spent with every color.

SWEET SANDWICHES Cut day-old bread into thin slices, then remove the crust. Spread each slice with marshmallow, whip and sprinkle lightly with cocoa; press the two slices together; cut into three-cornered or finger shapes.
