

JUSTICE COURT REPORT MADE

Fines During July Amount To $97; Two Jailed As Offenders

Offenders who came up before Judge Floyd S. Buck in justice court for violating village ordinances during July, were fined a total of $697.80 in fines. Judge Buck's report, made public today shows, Ten offenders in Bloomfield netted $195.90 fines and 36 in Birmingham brought in $502.80. Only two jail sentences were his regular court.

netted out, one of 60 days for drunk-driving and one of 10 days for drunkenness. The two largest fines of the month were also for drunken driving, one of $100, with the operator's license revoked for six months, and one of $50. Speeding and reckless driving cases numbered more than 20. Six of the 10 cases from Bloomfield Hills were reckless driving. The fines ranged from $10 to $25 for the offenders.

Other offenses were minor traffic violations, such as running a traffic light and parking on the pavement. Judge Buck has discontinued his regular Wednesday morning sessions at Bloomfield Hills Village, because, he says, he finds it more efficient to hark the offenders in that village brought down here to his regular court.

POLICE TAKE $80 IN FINES

Traffic Cases Keep Offices Of Village Busy In July

Fines amounting to $80 paid for minor arrests in the police department, were shown in the police report for the village for the month of July. Of the cases tried in the police station, those for speeding totaled 31, while 29 were recorded for overtime parking. Fourteen charges of reckless driving and 13 of violation of the traffic signal were fined, the police report showed.

Fines on almost 50 minor charges, are included in the $80 collected this month. Most of the fines averaged under $3.

Three persons were taken for driving drunk, while one was arrested for driving from the scene of an accident, one for assault and battery and one charged with passing bad money.

Eight were reported to have lodged in the jail at headquarters, and six children were reported lost. Four robberies and 13 accidents occurred, the report showed.

Neighboring interest and good will are voiced by the Bogie correspondent of the leaflet, "The Friends of Mrs. Buck Smith are delighted to know that she is very much improved. She being kicked by a mule."

MAY GIVE COURT FINES

State Offenses here in July Bring $525 in Penalties

Thirteen cases of taking under-sized fish, netting a total of $141.40, were the state report of Judge Floyd S. Buck for the month of July. Eleven of the cases were from Bloomfield Hills and two $15 each. Five cases of taking undersized perch brought $50 in fines. The other two cases brought before Judge Buck last month netted a grand total of $25.

Two drunken drivers paid $50 fines each, one of them receiving a 30-day sentence, suspended for 30 days, and the other $50 fine and 10 days. In addition, The latter, Arthur A. Cunningham, has appealed his case to the circuit court.

Only one charge of drunkenness and one of speeding came up last month, the former drawing a $5 fine and the latter a $15 one. Four cases of overloading brought fines totaling $110. One disorderly charge brought a $5 fine. Two cases of transporting liquor were dismissed, one at the recommendation of the prosecutor's office.

Three similar cases were bound over to circuit court. Only one person was fined for entering Woodward avenue while it was being closed. He drew a $10 fine.

One man paid $10 fine and paid the amount of several bad checks when arrested. Another was put on a year's probation for disorderly conduct, and one reckless driver paid a $15 fine. One check forging case was bound over.

ADULTERATES MILK, ARRESTED

For selling adulterated milk Tony Giglio, 105 North Sagamore street, Pontiac, was fined $25 by Floyd S. Buck, justice of the peace, yesterday afternoon. Two other persons are being searched for in Pontiac by Fred M. Slater, inspector for the state department of agriculture, who expects to bring them into court this morning.

The state law, according to Inspector Slater, requires that milk be sold, should contain at least three per cent milk fat. That sold by Giglio, discovered July 13, contained only one and nine-tenths per cent milk fat, the inspector said.

Two lady run-runners, Billie Earhardt, 21, and Charlie Earhardt, 19, her sister-in-law, were caught with 40 gallons of joy juice in "a small case near Stateville, N. C. officers allege. Being good looking and apparently nice girls otherwise, they were released under bonds of $300 each.

PROHIBITIONISTS HAVE CAUSE TO REJOICE

Prohibitionists may point to it as a sign of the success of their theories, others may think back through the past few weeks and nod their heads knowingly. Some may think nothing and some are other, but the facts remain the same, according to the water report on file today in the village office the electric water pump No. 2 with a capacity of 600 gallons a minute, has pumped 10,487,000 gallons of water during July. Pump No. 3, with a capacity of 1,000 gallons a minute, has pumped 19,440,000 gallons of water during the month. In March of this year it pumped 14,400,000 gallons during the month and the other one 32 hours. In March of this year it pumped 14,400,000 gallons during the month and the other one 32 hours. HEROISM WINS SEA SCOUT AWARD OF MEDAL AND SILVER CROSS

As a reward for his bravery in saving a young woman from drowning in Lake St. Louis near Pointe Claire, Quebec, on June 24 last year, Sea Scout Robert S. Coleman of Providence, R. I., formerly a Canadian Sea Scout, was recently decorated with the Canadian Royal Humane Association Medal for Life Saving at a meeting in the State Chamber of the Rhode Island Capitol. Lieut. Gov. Norman S. Case made the presentation.

Last November, as a result of the rescue, Scout Coleman was awarded the Silver Cross for Gallantry by the Boy Scout Association of Canada. The Canadian Royal Humane Society award is the first to be conferred upon a Boy Scout. It is the only decoration recognized by his Majesty, or his forces, other than decorations awarded personally by the King of England.

Sequestential Medal For the "presentation of the boy's point of view and instructive literature" the Boy Scouts of America have received a gold medal from the Sequestential International Exposition, held in Philadelphia last year.

A tourniquet applied by a farm boy who had learned first aid as a member of the Boy Scouts of America recently saved the life of Gus Edwards of Baytown, Kansas City, according to statistics made by Dr. H. L. Regier, chief of the staff of Providence Hospital who later treated the injured man.

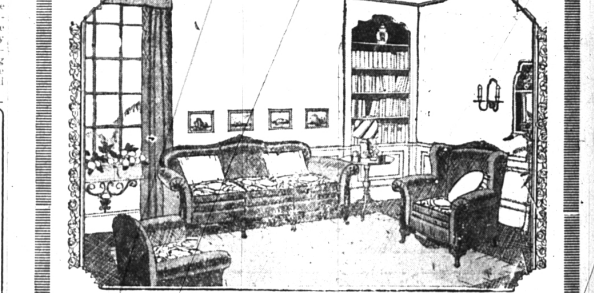

Falling asleep at the wheel of his car, Edwards crashed into a guard rail on United States Highway 40, near Kansas City, receiving a compound fracture of the left arm. The tendons in his arm were severed and artery was cut by the protruding bone. A boy from a nearby farm, who refused to give his name, saw the accident. He put a tourniquet on Edwards' arm and gave first aid. The boy told the injured man that he had learned first aid "at Scout meetings."

Helped New York Police When New York City celebrated the return of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh the Boy Scout Foundation of Greater New York offered the services of 10,000 Boy Scouts to aid the traffic police. Many of the Scouts missed a sight of the hero because they were busy aiding the police at points out of sight of the line of march.

Crippled Boys Now Scouts. Six crippled boys from the Shriner's Hospital at Minneapolis have become members of a special Boy Scout patrol of Troop No. 72 affiliated with the Open Door Congregational Church. Active Boy Scouts instructed the crippled boys in Scoutcraft and will aid them with their tests.

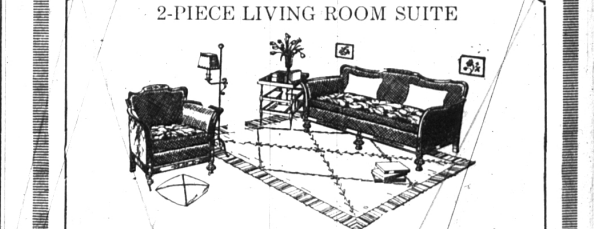

Ququito Campaign. In a campaign to rid the municipality of Kenilworth, Ill., of mosquitos, Boy Scouts working under the direction of the civic service clubs examined every residence and vacant lot in their search for stagnant water and other mosquito breeding places. Small stagnant pools were covered with oil and stopped up; drains were cleaned.
