What Every Housewife Needs

The old-fashioned idea that a woman's highest praise was her capacity for domestic drudgery, late and early, is fast passing away.

The modern housewife calls in the aid of electricity. She cooks, washes, sweeps, sews, with efficient, cheaply-running electric appliances; she does her housework quickly and easily; she has leisure for other things; she has a more homelike home; she preserves her health, lengthens her life, and saves her money.

Come to our office and at least look at the beautiful display of household appliances

4 POINTS WIN FOR BALDWIN

Basketball Squad Not Up To Usual Form In Pre-Holiday Tilt

Showing little of the ability displayed in previous practice contests, the Baldwin cagers defeated the Berkley basketball team by a margin of four points, in the contest held in the high school gymnasium last Friday night. At the conclusion of the game the scoreboard read, Birmingham 15, opponents 11.

The creditable work of both teams was largely on the defensive, though the villagers treatened Berkley's basket a great deal of the time, without success. The Maroon players kept the ball in the opponent's territory most of the time but failed on many trys for goals.

In the first period two field goals were scored and one foul point was successful. Cox, of Birmingham center, opened the scoring on a short toss at the hoop, when Crawford of Berkley evened up with a long heave which cleared the basket. Ballard, Berkley center, and high point man of the match, scored his first marker by sinking a foul point, bringing the score to 3-2 at the end of the quarter.

Gain Edge

Cooney, local forward, gave Birmingham the edge which lasted the rest of the contest, when he succeeded on a long shot at the goal in the second quarter. Cox added two more goals and a foul point during the remaining time before the half ended, with a score of 9-3, in Birmingham's favor.

H. Schwarze, forward, scored another goal shortly after the second half started. Doherty, guard, added two more points by looping the hoop from midfloor. Meanwhile Ballard had found a chance to record a marker, to make the tally 13-5 at the end of the third quarter. Countless trys at the backboard failed for Birmingham during this period, as they had throughout the contest.

In the final period of play Birmingham kept the ball in her own territory but could not score. Ballard managed to reverse the play when he chalked up another goal on a long shot. Smith scored an additional point after a foul. Brown, Maroon guard, dribbled through the Berkley defense later and tossed the ball into the cage to complete Birmingham's scoring. Ballard came back with another successful long shot and started a short lived rally which ended when he tossed the ball from the foul line, shortly before the final gun sounded and brought the score to 15-11.

Behind Form

None of Coach George Johnson's players appeared up to usual form in the final practice game before Christmas vacation. Practice is being held this week in preparation for the first hard game which is with Royal Oak next Tuesday.

Adams Students Select Careers

With the completion of a survey of the Freshman class of the Adams School, work is now under way for the publication of the final issue of the Adams Booster, official school paper.

Copies of a questionnaire were given 9A students to fill out last Friday. By these questionnaire the students full name, former or present class offices held, student activities such as band or orchestra, vocal groups, boy or girl scouts, and other activities, his aim or future profession, and his hobby were revealed.

Two boy and two girl members of the class had no aims in mind. The questions revealed. Journalistic work claimed two girls and a boy. Every other occupation was chosen by but one student, the 1st being composed of airplane manufacturer, piano-mover, magician, road builder, surgeon, lawyer, nurse, chemist, stock-broker, merchant mariner, and stenographer in a law office.

Among the hobbies of the Freshman were listed sports, chemistry, reading, music, riding, dancing, magic, stamp collecting, and piano-playing. One student gave as his hobby "going to school" while another said "failing in English."

A mock election was held the same afternoon, giving results also for the Booster's final issue.

The paper has at present a circulation of approximately 100. It is planned to sell the final issue to students and others not now on the subscription list as well as those now subscribing. A nominal price will be fixed for non-subscribers.
