

LIBRARY THEFT JAILS TWO MEN

Suspects Held In Stealing Of Fixtures For New Baldwin Building

The beautiful bronze lighting fixtures intended for the new Baldwin Public Library were in danger last week of being diverted from their lawful destination and sold elsewhere, when they disappeared from the freight car where they were waiting to be unloaded by the contractors.

The fixtures were intact when found. Officials of the Detroit Mantel & Tile company through whom they were bought, claim it would have been taken from the place they were being specially designed and manufactured.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT PERVADES SERVICE

Local Methodist Church Program Outlined For Month of December

Services at the First Methodist Episcopal Church, during the month of December, as are planned today, are in keeping with the Christmas season.

The sermon subject chosen for the Sunday morning services on Dec. 11, by Rev. R. M. Atkins, pastor, is "Jesus, the Christ or Christ?" The family hour on that day will be devoted almost entirely to the singing of Christmas music.

How to Achieve Beauty

By Mrs. Helena Rubinstein

A Mirror in Every Room Is a Good Thing For Beauty

Very often we hear the complaint that women are too vain, but personally I believe that most women do not look in the mirror often enough. It is a good thing for every woman to be reminded all through the day of just how she looks, for always you have recognition of faults before you have correction.

Business women, especially, are so taken up with their many affairs that they go through the greater part of the day not looking in their mirrors. They are too occupied with work to think about their looks and yet personal appearance makes a tremendous difference in every business contact a woman makes. I always hate to see a business woman allow herself to put little office details before the more important matter of her good looks.

I always advise a woman in business to have a mirror in her office, if possible where she can see it from her desk, so that she will constantly be reminded of any little deflection from good grooming that a woman in business should never want her to gaze in a mirror during office hours and admire herself, but she should be always sure that she is looking her best.

The woman who stays at home is just as likely to forget herself during the day and go around with an untidy appearance. And how embarrassed she becomes if she has unexpected callers! There is the habit of keeping her good looks up to par, and the biggest enemy of her daytime beauty is her mirrors. She should have one in every room, in the kitchen, the dining room, the hall—everywhere. She ought to cultivate the habit of snatching beauty moments away from her work to straighten her hair or renew her powder. And the very best way for her to keep age from creeping upon her features is to come face to face with herself at every turn. Then she will see the first approaching signs of age and will hasten to use the rich, nourishing anti-wrinkle creams, the muscle-tightening lotions which will keep her young. I believe the worst enemy to eternal youth is procrastination. For a young woman is too likely to let everything else come first and put off caring for her beauty until it has gradually slipped away from her. Her mirrors are her reminders, her goads that make her keep herself young and attractive.

Then, too, mirrors have a decorative effect in a room. They add to the spaciousness. They reflect light and in that way make a room seem brighter. They make for cheerfulness and help to keep up your good spirits. You must not feel that you are selfish if you want mirrors in your home for they give as much to the rest of your family as they do to you in the increased attractiveness of your home and of yourself.

TOTALS GIVEN IN WELFARE DRIVE

Birmingham District Workers In Crippled Child Campaign Re- port Nearly $2,000

More than $1,800 has been collected in the Birmingham district of the quota of $2,500 toward the annual campaign for memberships in the Oakland County Chapter of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children, according to information given out this week by Dr. Koch, president of the chapter. All workers who have not yet turned in their reports are to do so at once, he has requested.

The drive is to continue until the quota is reached, according to plans. Those in charge of it are optimistic over the results and say that the responses have been generous.

Those active in the association heard that, acting on a resolution adopted recently by the executive board of the Oakland County Paralytic League, John H. Factors, general chairman, and Cramer Smith, treasurer, have filed a petition in circuit court asking the right to transfer $7,266.10 to the Oakland County Chapter of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children.

The money is what was left in the county patriotic fund at the close of the world war together with interest that has since accumulated. The officers of the league say they know of no manner whereby this money could be returned to the persons from whom it was subscribed. They favor turning it over to the charitable organization which will use it in its work.

SEEK TO CLEAN BEDS OF RIVERS

Move Is Ordered Here In State- wide Battle Against Borer

Immediate clean-up of 15,000 acres of bottom lands along rivers leading out of our hater territory to prevent long distance spread of the borer, "is the first objective in the plans of the United States Department of Agriculture for controlling the borer in 1928," Secretary William M. Jardine stated.

In accomplishing this clean-up of river bottom acreage, reimbursement will be made to farmers owning the property involved who conduct a satisfactory voluntary clean-up. The reimbursement will be at the rate of not more than $2 per acre.
