Advocates Are Sincere

In the first place let us not attack the sincerity of those behind the movement. There are, however, so many things that have been overdone in the proposal that it would be extremely unfair to allow the situation to go to a vote without both sides of the story being told.

No Interference

BLOOMFIELD BIRMINGHAM Women and children first

PERHAPS it was the maternal instinct—the mother's determination to protect her children from the congestion of the city which started the big parade to these beautiful lakes and hills.

And perhaps, in the years gone by—in the days of "get out and get under"—the man of the house paid the pioneers' penalty for these privileges he gave his wife and children:

If he did not live long—before the advent of good roads—before the automobile became universal.

It was before Bloomfield, Oakland and all other golf clubs made their contribution to the social life of this community—before Wider Woodward came.

Perhaps it is the same old instinct which brings new thousands out here year after year.

It may be the children first—but talk to the mothers and fathers and they, too, will tell you that there is a charm to this Bloomfield-Birmingham life which makes it irresistible.
