

The Woman's Page

Society

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Society of the First Presbyterian Church will be held at 3 p. m. Wednesday, July 20, at the home of Mrs. John Endicott, on Chesterfield road. Members desiring transportation will meet at the Community House at 2 p. m., where cars will be provided.

Miss Lillie Hawkin, of Detroit, is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. J. P. Lamb, of Park street, before going to Muskegon Lake for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Zinnbauer, of Greenwood avenue, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a nine-pound daughter on the fourth of July.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Stanger, of Piere street, are giving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, Beverly Beatrice, on July 4. Mr. Stanger is the former Frances Boyce.

Mrs. C. J. Loomis, of Grand Rapids, is spending several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Melvin Hart, at her home on Villa road.

Mr. and Mrs. James Oliver, of Villa road, are motoring through the East.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Robinson, and their three children, of Oakland avenue, spent the week-end at Buffalo, N. Y. They left Saturday and returned Monday morning on the boat.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Botsford, of Bloomfield Hills Village, spent the week-end at the Indianapolis Golf club, in the company of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ogen, of Orion.

Mrs. Carlton Patterson, of Hamilton avenue, was among the guests at a delightful luncheon given last Thursday by Mrs. East Brown and Miss Arlene Fleming of Pontiac for Miss Mary Catherine Kessell, whose marriage to Mac Thomas Whitfield will be an event of late July. The luncheon was given at the Pine Lake Country club. Mrs. Patterson will be one of Miss Kessell's wedding attendants.

Mrs. Devo C. Davenport, of Ridgely avenue, will be hostess to her aunt, Mrs. John Farling, of Highland Park tomorrow.

The Misses Maude and Nelle Camp, of South Woodward avenue, were hostesses last week to their cousins, Col. and Mrs. T. J. Flynn, of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Florence Snyder and her daughter, Stella, of Rochester, N. Y.

Mrs. S. A. Stolberg, and her four children, Jane, Tom, Mary and Buddy, returned Monday after spending 10 days in Ludington, to their home on Rivenock avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Stolberg and their children and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Glerum motored to Ludington before the Fourth, the Glerums and Mr. Stolberg returning last week.

LITTLE SUPPERS HAVE CHARM

That favorite form of hospitality, the little late supper, needs for its success no more elaborate background than the smallest city apartment, provided the hostess is ingenious. Any table large enough for four will serve, if it is covered with a lace or embroidered tablecloth. Two tall candles with a low bowl of flowers in the center makes a pretty and comfortable table. Candles, now to be had in a hundred artistic and delicious forms, form a charming conclusion to little special occasion meals. They should be chosen to agree or contrast with the color of the flowers and candles and arranged decoratively on the handsome trays the household affords.

The supper dishes should not be too commonplace, though they may be few. The following menu is suggested: Raw oysters and lemon, followed by squash toast with quince jelly, stuffed with a small chestnut of chocolate cream, the hollow heap of lettuce with whipped cream which has been sweetened and flavored with maraschino, provide a delightful dessert. Coffee, of course, is included.

LELONG ANSWERS YOUR QUESTIONS

It is not every paper that can get fashion questions answered by so famous a couturier as Lucien Lelong of Paris. Yet The Birmingham Eccentric obtains answers directly from Lelong himself. Ask anything you desire about wardrobe or color or perfumes—anything on fashions.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

MENU HINT
A new luncheon dish is used in the menu hint below. It is the result of one woman's experiment. The lemon whip is a light and delicious accompaniment. It may be served with wafers or sponge cake.
Scalloped Corn and Beef
Spiced Beans
Bran Bread
Wafers or Sponge Cake
Lemon Whip

Today's Recipes
Stallor's Corn and Beef—A layer of freshly cooked or canned sweet corn, one layer of corn flakes, then a layer of chopped beef in small pieces, then another layer of corn flakes. Season to taste, add milk and bake.

Spiced Beans—Wash and cook beans until tender, peel and slice. Add the hot vinegar and sugar in which a few cloves and sticks of cinnamon have been boiled. Use one-quarter of a cup of sugar to a cup of vinegar.

Lemon Whip—Two tablespoons cornstarch, two eggs, one cup sugar, one lemon, juice and grated rind. Put one cup water in a pan and add sugar, lemon juice and rind. Let come to a boil and add cornstarch, mixed with a little water. Will until thick and clear. Have the whites of eggs beaten stiff and dry, then add the boiled sauce to whites of eggs while sauce is still hot. Put in ice box to cool. Make a custard of the yolk and serve over top.

SUGGESTIONS
Did you ever try steaming your shorts? Take one ounce of shortcake dough? One housewife tried it with great success. Take one pint (two cups) flour, four teaspoons baking powder, pinch salt, two tablespoons shortening, worked in well, two-thirds cup milk, or enough to make softer than for biscuits. Put in well greased pie tin. Place steamer over potatoes as soon as they start to boil, and the shortcake will be done when the potatoes are.

Substitute for Paper
The ordinary red flower pot can be made attractive by the use of ordinary enamel paint. With a box of oil paints you can design a pretty border around the top or print a single motif on the side. Paper, wrapped around the pot absorbs the water and gets streaked.

Throat Shows Woman's Age

By LUCREZIA BORI
The main point of attack that age makes against beauty is the throat. By the lines of the throat you can very nearly guess a woman's age.

This usually comes from the muscles being allowed to relax, and with a little exercise and patience, a woman can regain the old firmness, provided of course she has retained her health.

The throat is the seat of exercises will help a woman to train back the youthful line of her throat, but she must be as diligent in the task, as any prizefighter who has allowed his training to slip, and then tries to come back. She must go through with them every day.

Hold the head up as far as possible, chin out all the way. Chew exaggeratedly ten times, then the head still in this position, work the jaws laterally ten times each way.

Repeat the exercise at least ten times, and then try massage.

To massage a double chin, apply cocoa butter to the throat, and massage firmly with the tips of fingers of both hands in a rotary motion, first from the chin downward to the neck. Hold the jaws firm while doing this, and then rub the whole throat and chin with oil.

For a thin, serawny neck, try these exercises.

Drop the head forward, as far as it will naturally go.

Raise the head slowly, tilting it backward as far as possible. Then drop it forward again, repeating this at least 15 times.

Next, holding the body steady, turn the head as far to the side as possible, and try to lean it toward the shoulder. Do this, first to the right and then toward the left, for at least 20 times.

Then, head front again, raise the chin as high as possible, and turn the head slowly right to left for 30 times, always keeping the chin high in the air.

And last, holding the chin in the air, rotate the head slowly, back, side, front, side, until you have used every muscle in the entire throat.

When asked her occupation by a New York judge, Mrs. Ceila Forster replied, "I'm a married woman."

Mrs. Frederick Seidel of Garfield, N. J., seeks divorce because her husband treated her cruelly and drank the doctor from the family fish bowl.

Mrs. V. Jorgensen gave birth to twins while waiting for a train in the station at Okaton, S. D.
