Blair Says Flying Is Safe "I am frank to say that after flying for two years I am personally convinced that it is safer to travel by air than by any other means of transportation," says Mr. Blair. "When I flew to Hot Springs last April with three other men to attend the American Bankers' Association convention, we made the trip from Detroit to Hot Springs, 820 miles, in seven hours and five minutes. I am not exaggerating in the least when I express my honest opinion to the effect that the next 15 years will see quite as revolutionary a change in the methods of travel of the people by means of airplane development as we have seen in the past 20 years through the development of the automotive industry. Will Aid Goodwill Entirely aside from the commercial possibilities, I am convinced that the greatest and most permanent good that the airplane development will bring about will be the more complete understanding of the peoples of all the world. You know you cannot remain an enemy of any man if you know him well. Airplane travel will make the peoples of this world know one another more intimately than ever before. In the first year of the national air tour, 13 cities were visited, over a distance of 1900 miles. Last year 15 cities were visited, a distance of 2600 miles. This year 23 cities were visited and a total distance of 4110 miles was covered.

BAN ON WOOD SHINGLES SAID TO BE COMING (Continued From Page 1, Part 3) Lane, Charlotte, state fire marshal retained their offices. The problem of over-insurance being the main cause of arson was discussed by the group of firemen according to Mr. Moore who asserted it was said that many people having their houses over insured sought to collect the money by setting fire to their homes. Among the memorial services of the convention were memorial services for deceased firemen held at the Central Methodist Church in Lansing, T. Alfred Flemming of the Underwriters Laboratories, New York, addressed the firemen and impressed the fact that they were of untold value to their communities being the "peace time army of the nation." It was said that 29 firemen had died in 1926, not all in action, however. A point of the discussion among the firemen on Wednesday said Mr. Moore was the idea of having business men owning stores in different blocks be responsible for the inspection of their territory in order to keep it clear of fire hazards. Sufficient reason for business men demonstrating an interest in this project was their own protection it was said. Many demonstrations and talks were given by different companies connected with fire fighting. R. E. Abbott, fire prevention engineer of the Fisher Body Corporation talked on the use and care of different paints in connection with fires. An exhibition of extinguishing a reservoir of oil blazing apart by a well-known fire extinguisher corporation according to Mr. Moore. Those of the fire department who attended the convention are Fire Chief William G. Olsen and Stanley Pepprell besides Mr. Moore. A report will be made on the convention, by Mr. Moore before the local volunteers and paid men on July 29.

THEATERS GARRICK The popularity of "Jed Harris" which continues its record-breaking run by entering upon its fifteenth week at the Garrick Theater, is perhaps best exemplified by those hundreds of playgoers who suggest. "Let's see 'Broadway' again." It is doubtful whether Philip Dunning and George Abbott, who wrote "Broadway," ever dreamed of the intriguing success of the night club classic, "Broadway" has a peculiar fascination for many theatergoers who see it again and again with undiminished zeal, and they seem proud to tell their friends: "I've seen it four times for more, as the case may be and I still get a kick out of it." The cooling plant of the Garrick Theater has been working overtime during the hot days and it is a fact that patrons are able to see "Broadway" in comparative comfort during the most heat-spell. The engagement of "Broadway" at the Garrick will not continue much longer, owing to the booking of the company at the Selwyn Theater in Chicago. The excellence of the company has often been commented upon. The leaders include Wallace Ford, who has made himself a tremendous favorite in Detroit in his role as the "booster," Joseph King, declared to be the best stage detective in history, Grace Huff, Marshall Bradford, Gustave Roland, Edward Cannell, Jay Wilson, Allen Jenkins, Joseph Granby, Harriet E. MacGibbon, Catherine Collins, Lew Smith, Maurine Mayo, Julia Knox and Harry Blyven.

BIG INCREASE IS REPORTED FOR SCHOOLS (Continued From Page 1, Part 3) per cent of the enrollment last year, which was 2157, attended school. This is considered good. Eighty-four of the school population attend other than private schools. Of those attending public schools, there are 1120 boys and 1037 girls. Traffic Cop. Marion, four years old, rode on his automobile around the sitting room, while his baby sister, Lucille, was sitting in the center of the room. His mother told him to stop riding as he might hit the baby, and he replied: "No, mama, I'm not going to hit her. She is the silent policeman."

DINNER STORIES In London this story is going the rounds. A man called on Rudyard Kipling and said to his maid: "If Mr. Kipling is at work, please do not disturb him." "Work" exclaimed the maid. "He don't do no work; he only sits upstairs and scribbles and scribbles." The narrow gauge railway train had been bumping along at a great rate in confusion. The passengers were being jostled from one end of the car to the other, and occasionally, as though for variety, from side to side. Finally, however, the train at last settled down to a much smoother pace. One of the passengers turned to another and said: "Ah, the train is running much smoother now." "Yes, we're off the rails and running on the ties."

New Oakland Co. Sanatorium Opens August First (Continued From Page 1, Part 3) as a hut on the side of his bed which flashes a light in the station. Each room of the sanatorium contains a new type hospital bed, a handsome dresser with chair to match, a serving table, a tapestry upholstered Oxwell chair, and a rigid loud speaker. The new type of beds are adjustable, and are painted a light green, which harmonizes with the cream colored walls, all of which are stippled. The other bedroom furniture is also green in color. The furniture in the recreation rooms, the nurse's rooms, the reception room and the sun porch is all distinctive and in keeping with the beauty of the building itself. Reed furniture with fan-back chairs is used on most of the sun porches, of which there are six. There is a fireplace in each of the recreation rooms, and these rooms have mural decoration hand-painted in bright colors. Some of the salient features of the new sanatorium are a bank of 75,000 gallon capacity which will supply the hospital and will be kept filled by a pump housed in a pump-house built nearby; the laundry has been built in a separate building at the rear of the hospital for hygienic reasons; there are 80 acres of forest land directly to the rear of the main building; the total cost of the institution is set at $550,000 none of which has been raised by a bond issue.
