

LAST RITES HELD FOR FORMER RESIDENT

William C. Jenks Dies of Heart Disease After Illness of Several Months.

Funeral services were held at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday from the Daines and Bell chapel for William C. Jenks, 76 years old, who died Saturday of heart disease, after an illness extending over several months.

The Rev. Augustus Record, pastor of the First Unitarian Church, of Detroit, preached the funeral services.

Mr. Jenks is survived by his wife, Mrs. Minnie Van Norman Jenks, and four children, Earl R. Jenks, Miss Winifred and Miss Jessie, of Detroit, and Don M., of Ortonville.

SPECIAL ELECTION ON FIRE HALL SITE HIT BY ELLERY

Mrs. Halgren, reminded the committee that she had secured a permit for a new fire station on the site.

"We have had months to hear objections to this site and no one came forward with any because the majority approved it," said Ellery. "Now, when we are about to realize a new fire station and another unit of the civic center which the planning and village commissions have approved, we are asked to rescind our decision because a few people have another preference," he declared in scoring the proposal.

Mr. McBride said the erecting of the fire station on Pierce street would depreciate the value of property in that neighborhood.

W. L. Wood said that the site for the fire station was a beautiful fire station with ample grounds around it in the civic center.

After the resolution to obtain option on the Hamilton avenue property passed Mr. Hubbert explained his reversal from the stand he took the previous week.

"I have thought the site for the fire station is a beautiful fire station with ample grounds around it in the civic center."

Animals To Be Parade Feature For Annual Fair Of St. James

Horses, dogs, ponies, cats, parrots, rabbits and all other young folk of popular with the people of Birmingham are being brushed and curried and marveled and having their eyebrows plucked in preparation for the parade.

Buddy Green, dressed after the manner of Patrolman William Green, will lead the parade, which forms at 1:30 on north on Maple avenue, east to Woodward avenue, north to Willett street, west to Hates street, and south to the church.

Little Sarah Baker dressed in bright Italian colors, will follow in the parade, followed by a parrot in a cage. Joan Baker will lead a goat, the goat wailing and bleating.

Harold Green, dressed as a cowboy, will march with her brother, Buddy, and his dog, and Harriet Green, dressed as a cow, will lead the parade.

Those are only a few of the participants in this unusual event. Mrs. Earl A. Stone, general chairman of the fair, is getting on with the preparations.

BALDWIN SENIORS TO RECEIVE THEIR DIPLOMAS FRIDAY

Rev. B. G. Burt, rector of the Episcopal Church in Pontiac, the Rev. W. H. Blanchford, the Rev. C. L. Ramsay, and the Rev. Dr. S. C. Marquis, rector of Christ Church, Cranbrook. Then came the Rev. Mr. Forsyth and the Bishop.

The Ven. Mr. Ramsay read the opening sentences to the psalter, the Rev. Mr. McCurdy read the lesson from the Book of Isaiah, and the Rev. Mr. Blanchford read the lesson from the Book of Isaiah.

The Bishop performed the ceremony of institution and the Rev. Mr. Forsyth gave a prayer. After the hyacinth, Bishop Page gave an address.

More than 200 persons were present at the reception held downstairs in the church after the ceremony.

The Ukrainian orchestra, though the walls and flowers in profusion, Mrs. Huff played the harp during the reception.

Refreshment was served by some of the girls from the St. James School. Mrs. L. M. Baker, of Dorchester road, was in charge of the reception.

VILLAGE OBSERVES FLAG DAY TUESDAY

Flag Day, Tuesday, was not forgotten by the village of Birmingham which decorated Woodward avenue in the business district with American flags throughout the day.

As the first step toward making a possibility the erection of a large grade school. This will be voted upon at a special election July 11.

According to estimates the village manager the work will cost $44,140. Of this the territory in the village will have to stand $37,185 while the party in the township will stand the remainder.

The village at large will pay one-sixth of the village's share of the assessment while the remaining five-sixths of the amount will be raised from the special assessment district.

A writer recently located Music Shoals in the state of Tennessee. State of torpor would describe it better.

Franklin Village

Though situated in the heart of the country club district, Franklin Village is less than an hour's drive from downtown Detroit. It is an admirable location for persons who want to live in the heart of "the hills," yet whose business interests may be in the city.

The present prices of these carefully restricted properties, which are from a third acre to two acres in size, are such that as either homesteads or investment opportunities they are unexcelled.

To get to Franklin Village, drive out Maple Avenue past Oakland Hills Country Club, then south a mile on Franklin Road.
