

BIRMINGHAM ECCENTRIC

Published every Thursday at Birmingham, Mich., in The Eccentric Building, 126-128 North Woodward Avenue. GEORGE RODGERS AVERILL, Editor and Publisher...

CRANBROOK SCHOOL SCHOLARSHIPS

Given the brief span of three score and ten years to visit and grow upon this earth, the average soul, on any stream of industry and quick turnover, does not have as good a chance to develop the lasting attributes of character that were more easily obtained a generation or two ago...

LARGE AND SMALL NEWSPAPERS

Mr. Weber, editor and publisher of the Chevrolet Club's Detroit News, takes it to his heart as an editorial which we published, relative to the poor sportsmanship shown by metropolitan newspapers in their treatment of the Detroit News Wilkins Polar Expedition...

NEW TRAFFIC ORDINANCES

From various parts of the country come the cry that there are all too many laws, too many in point of fact, that it is impossible to know them all. The result, the reviewer says, is that few of the laws are enforced; hence, the great number of statutes on the books make for lawlessness that would a few years hence result in sensible legislation.

GOOD NEWS: ANOTHER CHURCH

New comes word that members of the Birmingham United Presbyterian Church are planning a new church here, to cost in the neighborhood of $100,000. That's fine news—and is undoubtedly welcomed by all who have the interest of Christianity at heart.

JUSTICE HOLMS

Now comes the word that the fair ladies of Germany are to wear rubber bathing suits this year. Rubber!

A CUP OF TEA

When but a kid, I'd recall how I did love to cram My sides with apple pie and frosted cakes and jam. Nor anything faster better than a Boal odd cup of tea.

FAREWELLS GIVEN FAMILY WHO MOVES

Considerable entertaining was done last week for Mr. and Mrs. George A. H. Moore, formerly of Harmon avenue, who left Friday for Toledo, O., to take up their permanent residence. Among the guests in their honor was the late Mrs. R. C. Dismore, of Roswell avenue.

BLOOMFIELD BIRMINGHAM Women and children first

PERHAPS it was the maternal instinct—the mother's determination to protect her children from the congestion of the city which started the big parade to these beautiful lakes and hills. And perhaps, — in the years gone by — the man of the house paid the pioneers' penalty for these privileges he gave his wife and children.

We, like most Americans, have always entertained a tremendous (this word is Lynn Harrod's) respect for the law—meaning, of course, the justness of the law. We are trying hard yet, all at other words to continue this respect. But it is hard; but it is hard.
