SHOWING SOME CHARMING SUMMER STYLES

Seven were styles for summer more charming. The dainty little sports frock (left) is made of pale blue crepe and trimmed with scallops of white. A crocheted white sports hat is worn with this dress, a close-up of which is shown (center). Imported French muslin is used in the making of the summer frock (right). It is embroidered in colors with silver scallops. The large hat is a horsehair braid in pale blue to match the embroidery. June Marlowe posed for all.

LIVING AND LOVING

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

MAN WANTS A WIFE

With married people writing in daily to ask advice on the problems that confront them, the man whose letter appears below yearns for matrimony, although he tried it once and it failed. Is he a "slut for punishment," or do you think he has an even chance for happiness in a second venture?

"Dear Mrs. Lee: I am of athletic build, five feet six and one-half inches tall, weigh 150 lbs., blue-gray eyes, brown hair, some thin on top of head. Like to do gymnasium feats as well as yard. Fifty-eight years young and pass for 45 in the auto shop where I have been working the last four years. My mother was a preacher's daughter and taught the "one standard" for both sexes. I married a pretty but poor girl when 25. She was a native of the north and finally left me. I moved, family uptown and quit farming, getting a divorce about two years ago. I would like to marry and have a family again, but am too old to work and bring up another family unless my wife had the money. Would like a woman of good character and Protestant. Of small or medium weight, that has a 50-50 proposition at least. For I want time from my money getting a "hell" to her. Having sung tenor in church choirs all my life, also a little in comic opera. I can pledge fidelity and am up to my plow, but have not much money. Am longing for a loving wife and less work than I am doing in shop. I always want work, however.

Well, Mr. G. W. H., I certainly hope you get your wish. I supposed every community had some nice, unattached women who might be wooed and won by good man. What is the matter with the women in your own neighborhood?

Unlike G. W. H., a married man writes to say he has a good, loving wife, but she does not consider him perfect and he objects to her efforts to make him over.

"Dear Mrs. Lee: I have a dear wife and she is very fond of me and is an excellent housekeeper, but she is always trying to make me over. All my little habits come in for criticism. It is good naturally given, Mrs. Lee, I don't mean for a minute that she is a nag, but it is uncomfortable nevertheless. How can I get her to stop without hurting her feelings?"

When a woman stops trying to improve her husband it means she has lost interest in him, does it as natural for her to try to change you over as it is for her to alter the house furnishings? If isn't very pleasant for you, I'll admit, so try a good-natured comeback. When she criticizes you, tell her you'll go in to her if she'll change one of her little habits to suit you. Make it 50-50 proposition.

Linen Stains May Now Be Removed

Many ultimate stains on dress and table linen do not respond to the ordinary washing treatment, but if the housewife knows what to apply the article may be made good as new.

Fruit, coffee, cocoa, tea, rust, excess bluing, white enamel wax and colored cloth wax all need a more substantial treatment than the mere wash tub, water and soap.

If boiling water does not remove a fresh fruit stain use alternate treatment with oxalic acid and javelle water.

Iron rust will not respond to an ordinary washing. Oxalic acid or lemon juice and salt will do the trick.

For excess bluing apply boiling water, then if a yellowish stain is left, treat as for iron rust.

To remove white candle wax, chill until wax is brittle then remove as much as possible by scraping off with a knife. Apply a warm iron over a blotting paper. Colored glaze wax is treated the same as white, followed by javelle water to remove any trace of color or left.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

MENU HINT

What family does not enjoy the meal that is eaten informally in the sun room or screened-in porch or even in the living room on chilly days, before the open fire? Following is a meat dish recipe which would serve for the foundation for a "cold plate meal" to be so eaten.

- Pressed Beef
- Battered Rolls
- Radishes
- Sliced Cucumber and Tomato
- In Season
- Rhubarb Salad
- Hot Coffee or Cold Tea with Lemon

TODAY'S RECIPES

Pressed Beef The day before it is to be served, gently stew a flank bone with two or three pounds of lean meat. While cooking season with salt, pepper, mustard, ketchup, a minced onion, one-half clove garlic, if liked, a bay leaf, a head of cauliflower, two or three whole cloves and three or four whole cloves. When very tender, about two hours, boil down to about a pint, cut the meat in small pieces as for salad and ground, and wet thoroughly with the liquid. Put into a mould one-third of the meat, then a thin layer of minced pineapple, then the rest of the meat. Or, if you prefer, the potato may be stirred through the meat, and cover with a layer of leaf lettuce, rice with radishes, olives and slices of cucumber and tomato if in season. The salad dressing should be served on the one large plate with roll, put of butter, etc.

SUGGESTIONS

Black Materials Never apply soap directly to black materials. Wash the garment in cold water, then wash it just warm enough to cut away grease. Plunge in and down again. Squeeze a head of leaf lettuce through the material, and wring it clean if necessary, using two different soapy waters. Rinse several times in warm water, then lastly in cold water.

Make Your Own

Buttons play cards may be made at home by painting a narrow strip of gold around the edge of a plain cotton card and writing the number in the center of gold ring. They look particularly well if your china and glassware happen to be gold-colored.

Earn More Than Factory

Accurate statistics on industrial accidents show that more women are injured in agricultural work than in factories.

Ironing stains, first by local and second by general application. To apply a solution locally, stretch the stained part over top of a bowl and pour the solution down on it. Put a few drops of the solution on the stain and rub it in. For general treatment, immerse the whole piece in the solution.

For excess bluing apply boiling water, then if a yellowish stain is left, treat as for iron rust.

To remove white candle wax, chill until wax is brittle then remove as much as possible by scraping off with a knife. Apply a warm iron over a blotting paper. Colored glaze wax is treated the same as white, followed by javelle water to remove any trace of color or left.

WITH WOMEN OF TODAY

By MRS. ELLIOT CARROLL

In a contest conducted recently by a nationally known magazine in literature, music and art at the invitation of the fine arts division of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, more than 400 entries were received from club women in 45 states, Canada and the District of Columbia.

Mrs. Harriet C. Long of Madison, Wis., won first prize in the literature division for the best list of 200 books written by American authors and published in America.

The prize for the best list of 100 people for photographs or piano was won by Mrs. (Ora) Ballard, Sioux City, Ia. The composers, like the authors of the books, must be American.

Mrs. William F. Schlotzky of Waterville, Wash., won the prize for the best essay "America's Distinctive Contribution to Painting and Sculpture."

The contest was open to club women, and the object was to encourage into the creative work of America.

Learns by Watching Simply by watching, instruments enabled Jessie Davis, of Brooklyn, N. Y., to fix an automobile. With a bent mind she made an ascent of Bolling field, Washington, D. C., recently and which in the air, demonstrated her pilot perfectly, although it was her second time in the air. The pilot took the control for the day.

Approves Children's Bureau The General Council of the League of Women Voters voted at the Children's Bureau at its recent meeting in Washington. The Council expressed its approval of the "able administration" of the bureau, which it regards as "one of the most successful demonstrations of the functioning of the government in the interest of general welfare."

Admit Women Journalists Mrs. Margaret Burnham, feminist editor, and her chief editorial writer, Severing, are the first women journalists of France to be admitted to membership in the Paris Journalists' House, head-quarters for Paris news writers.

Honored by D. A. R. Mrs. William Rock Lamm of Carrollton, Mo., was elected vice president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Cooling Breezes

SCARCELY any invention of late years has given more Summer comfort than the Electric Fan, or is more indispensable in the home.

The Electric Fan, by maintaining a steady stream of fresh, cool air, promotes both health and enjoyment.

Its refreshing breezes are produced at a trifling cost—less than one-third of a cent an hour.

This is the time to give the matter your thought. Come in, please, and look at our stock.

BOYS AND GIRLS

Harmon Loeb, son of Dr. Carl Loeb of Chicago, after a course of ultra violet ray treatment, was able to walk at the age of 5 weeks, according to a press report.

Charles Robert Hanna and Ellen Anne Hanna, twin babies in Washington are distinguished by having their birth certificates signed by President Coolidge. Their father is a policeman at the White House.

With the Blouses Instead of putting the freshly laundered blouse into the drawer just any old way, place a sheet of tissue paper between each one. It will keep them fresh and uncrumpled much longer and look better when you wear them.

Easily Handled When taking toast, or any crisp article of food, an towel, first cut it into strips. This will avoid a shower of crumbs over the bed and it looks more dainty and appetizing.

Substitute Cookie Tin If you do not possess a regular cookie sheet, turn your ordinary layer cake pans upside down and bake the cookies on the drawers. They will bake beautifully, with much less chance of burning than when baked in the pans.

Russian dressing has tomato, chili sauce, or tomato catsup and lemon juice, added to plain mayonnaise dressing.
