UNDERGROUND CANAL OPENED

One of the greatest engineering feats in the world, the Marcellus intertrench canal, has just been completed after fifteen years' labor and the outlay by the French government of 300,000,000 francs.

This waterway connects the port of Marseilles with Debrere Lake. Its chief feature is a waterway tunnel five and one-fifth miles long and twenty-two feet wide.

Photos show (above) a stretch of the canal just after leaving the tunnel and (below) launch bearing President Doumergue of France and his party entering the tunnel for dedicatory exercises.

Spectacular Playing of Ty Cobb Is Outstanding Feature of 1927 Baseball Season, Says Brown

The wonderful playing of Ty Cobb, in his twenty-third season in the majors, is the outstanding feature of what has been an intensely interesting season in baseball today.

By NORMAN E. BROWN. The all-around playing of the Phils by Stuffy McInnis, centering baseball season today, is in my opinion...

The marvelous playing of Ty Cobb, the repetition of the New York Yankees' whirlwind start of 1926...

The utter collapse from one cause and another of the Cleveland Indians, pitched start, rated as probably the best in the league...

The individual playing of Bill Hargrett, the hitting of Eddie Farrell, and the hitting of Eddie Collins...

The failure of George Mervin to mold the batting power of the Tigers into an effective offense...

The epidemic of injuries that has beset the National League...

The general demoralization of the White Sox under Manager Ray Whitt, who has been unable to mold the batting power of the White Sox...
